The news of the meeting from Kremlin came on the eve of a White House deadline for Moscow to show progress toward ending the war in Ukraine

RUSSIA MUM ON HAVING UKRAINE ON TABLE

There was no immediate comment on Thursday from the White House and it was unclear how the announcement of the meeting would affect Trump's Friday deadline for Russia on Ukraine. Putin's foreign affairs adviser Yuri Ushakov brushed aside the possibility of Ukraine President Volodymyr Zelenskyy joining the meet, something Trump was open to

Rahul shows 1L 'vote theft proof' in K'taka

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

DAYS after his 'atom bomb' barb against the Election Commission of India (ECI), Leader of Opposition in Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi on Thursday alleged large-scale irregularities in voter rolls, citing an analysis of the Mahadevapura assembly segment poll rolls in Karnataka for the 2024 general elections, where 1 lakh instances of 'vote theft' were allegedly found.

He said the 'election was stolen' through a collusion between the BJP and the EC, adding the judiciary needs to get involved in this because "the democracy that we love so much, does not exist anymore".

Rahul said six months of tedious work on Mahadevapura poll rolls threw up "criminal evidence" of 'vote theft', and alleged that the poll body was busy destroying such proof across the country.

He alleged that there was 'theft' of 1,00,250 votes in the Mahadevapura segment, with 11,965 duplicate voters, 40,009 voters with fake and invalid addresses, 10,452 bulk voters or single address voters, 4,132 voters with invalid photos and 33,692 voters misusing Form 6 meant for enrolling new voters.

Form 6, he added, was the most misused one. "Normally the new voters' age varies between 18 to 25 years, but in this category, there were voters with age 98, 97, 85, 75 years and so on. "There is not a single person in the 18-25 age group," he pointed out.

While the EC responded by demanding Rahul's signed declaration on his claims, he fired back, saying he made the remarks publicly and they can "take it as an oath".

In the 2024 Lok Sabha elections, the BJP secured 6,58,915 votes in Bangalore Central, winning with a margin of 32,707. In the Mahadevapura assembly segment, the Congress received 1,15,586 votes as against the BJP's 2,29,632. "The Congress won all Vidhan Sabha segments except Mahadevapura, which swung the scales."

Sources say no amount of aid can offset the huge losses to affected sectors

India Inc SOS to govt as US tariffs kick in

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

WITH the US imposing a massive 50% tariff on Indian products, the affected sectors—primarily textiles, gems & jewellery, and MSMEs—have warned of a possible disruption of critical supply chains, plummeting exports, and thousands of job losses. These sectors have also sought both fiscal and non-fiscal support from the government. However, government officials and industry experts say any support would fall short of offsetting the business losses caused by the high tariffs.

On Wednesday, the US imposed an additional 25% tariff over and above the earlier-announced 25% tariff on Indian exports, to penalise India for its continued crude oil imports from Russia. The first 25% tariff took effect on Thursday, while the second levy will kick in on August 27.

A senior official from the Apparel Export Promotion Council (AEPC) said businesses might have stayed afloat with 25% tariff by absorbing 10-15% of it through margin cuts. "But with a 50% tariff, doing business with the US has become unviable. Many MSMEs will shut shop," the official said, warning that lakhs of jobs are at risk.

TARIFF TRACKER

The impacted sectors have sought relief measures such as deferment of interest on working capital, permission for SEZs to sell in the domestic market, and short-term relief packages similar to those introduced during the Covid-19 pandemic.

However, insiders say that even if the government steps in, it cannot bridge the cost gap.

Indian exports to the US stand around $87 billion, accounting for 20% of its total exports. Estimates suggest that 40-50% of these exports could be affected. India's top exports to the US include electronics (including smartphones), pharmaceuticals, gems & jewellery, textiles, organic chemicals, and machinery. While smartphones and pharmaceuticals enjoy zero tariffs now, most other sectors are subject to a 50% or higher duty.

The US is the largest market for India's garment exports, with exports worth $5.33 billion in FY25.

The gems and jewellery sector exported goods worth $12 billion to the US in FY25 and now faces a 50% duty. "The US is our single largest market," said Kirit Bhansali, chairman, GJEPC.

The MSME sector is also feeling the heat. "The additional 25% penalty could cut exports by halfMSMEs exporting to the US," said Anil Bhardwaj, secretary-general, FISME.

READY TO PAY HEAVY PRICE TO PROTECT FARMERS: PM

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

ON a day the first half of the heavy US tariff on India kicked in, Prime Minister Narendra Modi said he was willing to bear any significant personal cost to defend the rights of farmers and the dairy sector. "I know that I will personally have to pay a heavy price. But I am ready for it," Modi stated.

"For us, the interests of farmers is the top priority. India will never compromise on the interests of farmers, dairy sector and fishermen," the prime minister said in his address at the M S Swaminathan Centenary International Conference here.

The sticking point in the trade deal with the US is India's refusal to open up its farming sector. The US wants permission to sell genetically modified crops such as maize and soybean, and full access to India's dairy market.

Modi released a commemorative coin and stamp in the honour of the legendary agricultural scientist, Prof M S Swaminathan. He also established a global award, the 'M S Swaminathan Award for Food and Peace'. The first edition of the award was conferred on Prof Ademola A Adenle for his efforts in combating hunger in Nigeria.

The PM highlighted the achievements of yesteryear scientists in making the country self-sufficient in food and urged young scientists to focus on India's nutritional security.

LOW CONVICTION

You can't act like a crook, SC tells ED

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

WHILE flagging low conviction rates in cases investigated by the Enforcement Directorate, the Supreme Court on Thursday lambasted the central agency and said it cannot act like a "crook" and has to confine itself within the four corners of law.

"You cannot act like a crook. You have to work within the four corners of law. There is a difference between law-enforcing authorities and law-violating bodies," said a three-judge bench headed by Justice Surya Kant.

The bench, also comprising justices Ujjal Bhuyan and N Kotiswar Singh, made these observations while hearing submissions on the maintainability of a batch of review petitions filed by Karti P Chidambaram and others challenging the validity of the 2022 Vijay Madanalal Chaudhary (VMC) judgment which upheld various provisions under Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA) granting ED power of arrest.

Slamming ED for its low rate of convictions, Justice Bhuyan, quoting a minister's reply in Parliament, quipped: "After 5,000 cases, less than 10 convictions. Why? We are equally concerned about the image of the ED." The bench stressed that there is a difference between law enforcement agencies and those who violate it.

Additional Solicitor General S V Raju, appearing for ED, said one of the reasons for low conviction rates in PMLA cases is that the "rich and powerful use a battery of lawyers and file many applications at different stages to protract the proceedings." The hearing will continue next week.

FIGHT OVER WATCH: CLASS 5 BOY BEATEN UP BY SENIORS DIES IN VIJAYAPURA DIST

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Vijayapura

A Class 5 student of a private school at Yogapura on the outskirts of Vijayapura, who was allegedly assaulted by his three seniors five days ago, succumbed to injuries on Thursday.

Tension prevailed at Yogapura when the body of Ansha Jagtap, 11, was placed in front of the school building by his family members and locals, who staged a protest alleging negligence on the part of the school management.

According to Ansha's parents, he was allegedly assaulted by three students from Class 9 after a dispute over a wristwatch he was wearing. The trio forcibly took Ansha's watch after allegedly assaulting him. Ansha was under treatment after the alleged attack.

The family members claimed that no action was taken though they informed the school authorities, including the principal, about the alleged attack on Ansha.

Deputy Superintendent of Police Basavaraj Yaligar and CPI of Gandhi Chowk station Mallayya Mathapati visited the school and persuaded the parents of Ansha and locals to withdraw their protest. The body was shifted to the district hospital mortuary.

In his complaint, Ansha's father stated that his son sustained a major injury three years ago while playing in Gwalior, Madhya Pradesh.

Though Ansha got treatment for it, he had some health issues. After Ansha was allegedly assaulted by his seniors in the school, he was admitted to a local hospital and discharged. But two days after coming home from hospital, he developed breathing problems and died, his father said.

Ansha's father, however, said he suspected that his son died because of the injuries he sustained in the alleged attack.

Police said they will conduct a thorough investigation.

4 die after consuming herbal medicine for deaddiction

RAMAKRISHNA BADSESHI @ Kalaburagi

FOUR persons died — three on Wednesday evening and another on Thursday — after consuming herbal medicine for de-addiction at Imdapur village.

The deceased have been identified as Ganesh (30) of Shahabad town of Kalaburagi district, Laxmi (45) and her son Nagappa (21) of Burugapalli village, and Nagesh (27) of Madakal village in Sedam taluk.

Navita, a resident of Kachvar, lodged a complaint with Sedam police station on Wednesday, saying her mother Laxmi had called her and said that a certain Fakirappa Mutya of Imdapur village, under Sedam police station jurisdiction, is a traditional healer who gives herbal medicine for de-addiction. "My mother asked me to go to Imdapur and take the token for the medicine, and that they would come at the right time. I went to Imadapur with my husband and collected the token from Fakirappa," she said.

Meanwhile, her mother Laxmi and brother Nagappa came to Imadapur. Around 2pm Wednesday, Fakirappa called those who had taken tokens inside his chamber. Laxmi and Nagappa went in, as did Ganesh and Nagesh. Fakirappa Mutya gave them herbal medicine in plastic glasses, which they consumed, and within a a few minutes, her mother, brother and other two men fell unconscious.

As per Fakirappa's advice, they were rushed to hospital, but could not be revived, Navita said in the complaint, seeking police action on the healer.

Fakirappa was arrested and remanded in judicial custody on Thursday.

COST FACTOR DAMPENS DEMAND FOR ECO-FRIENDLY FESTIVITY ITEMS

Hefty GST on clay idols, seed-based rakhis, cite traders

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

NOW you can protect Earth by buying responsibly. Seed rakhis, clay-seed-embedded Ganesha idols and seed-based Indian flags offer you options, but these come with a higher price tag.

Companies, consumers, waste management experts and environmentalists demand the Union and state governments to reduce GST on eco-friendly products, that present attract 15-18% GST, in order to increase their demand.

Sakshi K, an employee at a real-estate firm, said, as a part of the CSR initiative, her company is promoting purchase of eco-friendly rakhis and Ganeshas. "I am not keen to buy an eco-friendly rakhi because each one costs me Rs 110 to Rs 200, while a normal rakhi is around Rs 50 to Rs 80. Same is the case with Ganesha idols," she said.

Rohini B, a home-maker with two sons and two brothers, said, "My sons' school is encouraging eco-friendly celebrations. It is a good initiative. But it should also be affordable. Spending Rs 150 on each rakhi and other items will turn out to be costly affair."

IN VOGUE

Demand for Bengaluru-made seed-based Indian flags is on the rise. Roshan Ray, Founder, Seed Paper India, said they have received orders this year to supply the flag for the second consecutive time to the office of President of India. The unit in Bommasandra will also be supplying seed-based eco-friendly flags to the offices of the Andhra Pradesh High Court judges and to the three wings of the Indian Armed Forces.

Shobha Rander, from Satatyug, said there is a gradual demand for eco-friendly rakhi. Admitting to the high cost, she said this is because the items are hand-made and attract GST as they are billed.

Another eco-friendly items dealer said many dealers of plastic items do not maintain bills, tax is less and hence are affordable. This is not the case with eco-friendly items. A bamboo toothbrush has 18% GST, steel straws draw 15% GST, clay-eco-friendly idols have 18% and clay alone has 10-12% GST. This is deterring consumers, even though they are interested.

Roshan Ray, founder, Seed Paper India, said demand for seed-based items, including pens, pencils and flags is rising year-on-year. He said demand is not just rising from corporates and hotels, but also individuals. The cost is not much a hindrance as each flag comes with a pot-kit to plant, adhering to Indian Flag Code.

Shanti Tummala, member, Solid Waste Management Round Table, said the cost factor can be addressed if awareness and demand increase. If items are generated in bulk, then cost will come down. The government should also pay attention as it will help improve carbon credit and ensure environment sustainability. Eco-friendly items not just address waste management, but also encourage artisans and rural employment.

47 acres of Kaggadasapura Lake fixed at ₹10.85 crore

MOHAMMED YACOOB @ Bengaluru

THE BBMP Lake Division has fixed issues with 47 acres of Kaggadasapura Lake in CV Raman Nagar by fencing, desilting, improving the island, and clearing tanks. The project, which had been going on since 2022, cost Rs 10.85 crore.

Over the next 40 days, the waste weir and kalyani for Ganesha idol immersion will also be fixed. With this, nearly 25,000 Ganesha idols going from CV Raman Nagar to Ulsoor Lake for immersion will be reduced

The lake will also reduce flooding in some areas upstream. "This is because the water holding capacity of Kaggadasapura Lake has been increased. Silt has been removed, sewage diverted and part of the encroachment cleared. We have achieved improved water quality, developed walkways, protected shorelines, developed inlets and fenced the waterbody," said J Nithya, Executive Engineer, BBMP Lake Division.

A senior official said that only setting up of a 5-MLD Sewage Treatment Plant by the BWSSB is pending.

PM Modi's vision bolstered Bengaluru's infra, says Surya

BENGALURU: Bengaluru South MP Tejasvi Surya on Thursday said it is because of PM Narendra Modi's vision that there has been renewed focus on the city's infrastructure, which is also the reason for Namma Metro covering a distance of 100 km. With this, Bengaluru's Metro rail connectivity is said to be the second longest in the country. Surya said that in 2014, before the Modi government came to power at the Centre, the Metro covered 7.5 km. With the Yellow Line's inauguration this Sunday, it is due to reach almost 100 km. Meanwhile, with DCM DK Shivakumar taking a ride on the Yellow Line, and claiming that there has been contribution from their end towards the project too, Surya slammed the state government, saying: "In the last 2.5 years, not even once have the CM or DCM bothered to focus on the Yellow line."

'K'taka deserves more Chevening scholarships'

ENS @ Bengaluru

"KARNATAKA has 66 higher education institutions per lakh population, more than double the national average of 30. If the British High Commission considers increasing the number of scholarships for Karnataka students, it will make a huge difference," Higher Education Minister Dr MC Sudhakar said at the announcement of the first batch of Karnataka Chevening Masters Scholars for 2025–26.

The cohort includes five women scholars — Nihaarika Naresh, Sushma Shamasundar, Chandana Anjinappa, Atheena Rose Joseph and Swetha Nagapathi Hegde — selected to pursue one-year master's degrees in the UK , and are set to fly in September.

British Deputy High Commissioner Chandru Iyer noted, "Karnataka is the first state in South India to sign such a partnership. Our bilateral relationship is growing. We've recently signed the Comprehensive Economic and Trade Agreement (CETA) and launched a strategic partnership for Vision 2035. These developments will strengthen India-UK ties. Central to this bond is the living bridge — the people-to-people connection."

CM inaugurates Lalbagh flower show; Govt sets aside 110 acres for Rayanna memorial

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah inaugurated the 218th Annual Fruit and Flower Show at Lalbagh Botanical Gardens on Thursday. The show, organised as part of Independence Day, is themed around historical figures Kittur Rani Chennamma and Sangolli Rayanna. The CM said the state government has set aside 110 acres of land, where Rayanna was hanged by the British during the freedom struggle, to set up a memorial.

Addressing media after the inauguration, the CM said, "Rani Chennamma fought two wars against the British. She won the first and was captured by the British in the second. People belonging to all caste segments were in her army, and Rayanna was her close confidante. He was very brave and was hanged by the British in 1831. The state government is allocating 110 acres of land to develop a memorial where he was hanged by the British."

The CM was joined by Deputy Chief Minister and Bengaluru Development Minister DK Shivakumar, Horticulture Minister SS Mallikarjun, Transport Minister R Ramalinga Reddy and others. Meanwhile, the Lalbagh authorities have made an elaborate plan for the flower show, with replicas of Kittur Fort, Rani Chennamma Memorial, and Rayanna on horseback, apart from an eye-catching vertical garden. The authorities invested Rs 3 crore for the 12-day event.

Tunnel Road bidders want B-Smile to clear dust and debris

MOHAMMED YACOOB @ Bengaluru

BIG companies showing interest in Bengaluru's Twin Tunnel Road project, have asked Bengaluru Smart Infrastructure Limited (B-SMILE) to take up the responsibility of clearing silt and soil after boring, but the civic body has shot down the proposal. It said the company bagging the tender will have an investment share of 60% under the Build-Own-Operate and Transfer (BOOT) model and will have to deal with it, and the government will only facilitate it.

The 16.75-km tunnel road will take away 40 per cent of traffic from surface roads once completed, says BS Prahallad, Director, B-SMILE. The agencies which took part in the meeting, asked the civic body to extend the technical bid meeting scheduled for September 3. According to Prahallad, the land required for the project is very little, as most of the work is underground, and such projects have already been done in Mumbai, where a 4.5-km tunnel road was built.

"We already have Rs 800 crore, which will be used as compensation for land acquisition, and the team is involved in correspondence between the Ministry of Defence and Government of India, as permission will be required to drill a tunnel below their land," he said.

While the issue of transporting soil and silt from the tunnel has just begun to crop up, geologists and environmentalists argue that the absence of a plan to move silt and soil may lead to an increase in pollution, as dust particles may get mixed with air during summer, while during the monsoon, the dumped soil will turn into sludge and may run into fields and roads if dumping sites are not identified and handled well.

"There are guidelines for transporting soil and silt. It has to be done in an enclosed system. Before the excavation or boring, a study will have to be conducted to know the weak and strong areas, and corrective measures will have to be taken," said Professor D Parameshwar Naik, department of Environmental Science, Bengaluru University.

BJP MP named in FIR after ZP driver dies by suicide

Sudhakar expresses condolence, says he does not know victim

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Chikkaballapur

AN outsourced driver working at the Chikkaballapur Zilla Panchayat died by suicide on Thursday morning, prompting the police to file an FIR that includes the name of Chikkaballapur MP Dr K Sudhakar.

The deceased, identified as Babu, was assigned to drive the vehicle of the chief accounts officer at the Zilla Panchayat. According to a source, he hung himself on the ZP premises, leaving behind a four-page suicide note.

Babu alleged that Nagesh and Manjunath, a clerk in the accounts department, collected a significant sum of money from him with the promise of regularising his job through the MP. The note specifically names Sudhakar, Nagesh, and Manjunath, stating that the promise was not fulfilled and the money was not returned.

According to family members, Babu left his home early Thursday morning, telling them he had a meeting. He parked his vehicle near a tree on the ZP premises, left the suicide note behind, and died by hanging. Before taking the extreme step, he also sent a copy of the note to a female employee at the ZP.

Following the incident, Chikkaballapur police registered a case under relevant sections, including those pertaining to abetment and the SC/ST Atrocities Act. Speaking to media persons, SP Kushal Chowksey said a detailed investigation is underway and appropriate action will be taken.

Responding to the allegations, Sudhakar, currently in New Delhi, denied knowing Babu. He expressed condolences to the bereaved family and said he has helped many individuals obtain private employment during his public life but had never met Babu nor taken any money from him.

Sudhakar acknowledged knowing Nagesh, stating that Nagesh's uncle, a former taluk panchayat president and Sudhakar's supporter, introduced him to the BJP. He said he later appointed Nagesh as chairman of the Urban Development Authority.

The MP alleged that the Congress is trying to politicise the tragedy and target him. He urged the police to conduct a thorough and impartial investigation, stating that he is fully confident in the judiciary and is ready to cooperate with the inquiry.

Sudhakar also said he plans to meet Babu's family soon to offer his condolences.

Stampede: State submits panel report to HC

Bengaluru: The Karnataka government on Thursday submitted in a sealed cover the report of the commission of inquiry headed by Justice John Michael D'Cunha on the stampede that claimed 11 lives during RCB victory celebrations at M Chinnaswamy Stadium to the Karnataka High Court. The evidence of witnesses and the brief note pertaining to the report was also placed before the division bench of Justice Jayant Banerji and Justice Umesh M Adiga along with the report in two volumes by the Advocate General K Shashikiran Shetty, in compliance with the directives issued by the court while hearing the petition filed by DNA Entertainment Networks Private Limited. Taking it on record, the court adjourned the hearing to August 12, after the counsel for the DNA sought time to enable him to complete instructions that would need to be given to the court to consider the report that has been filed. DNA Entertainment Networks Private Limited moved the HC seeking to quash the report submitted by the commission, alleging that it seems to have proceeded in a biased manner and not provided them a sufficient opportunity to defend their case before submitting the report. ENS

Abducted by fellow student, engg student drinks poison, dies

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A 20-year-old engineering student who was battling for life after consuming poison over alleged harassment by a fellow student, died in hospital, in Kengeri on Tuesday. She was reportedly abducted on July 31. Ishwarya and Samrat were students of an engineering college on the outskirts of the city. Ishwarya was a resident of NES Badavane in Mandya, while Samrat is a resident of Sathanur.

Samrat had been pestering Ishwarya to have a relationship. He allegedly took her forcibly to his aunt's house in Sathanur, and when she turned him down, he gave her poison. Unable to bear the harassment, she drank the poison, then called her parents and informed them that Samrat had brought her to Sathanur. It is said that on July 30, when Ishwarya left home, Samrat forced her to go with him, and kept her at his aunt's house.

Ishwarya's mother and brother found her near a bus stand in Sathanur, and took her to KM Doddi police station. When the police were speaking to her, she started vomiting and only then they found out that she had consumed poison, the officer said. The accused is yet to be arrested.

Caught on camera: Criminal poses in cop's uniform, constable suspended

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

A police constable attached to the Govindapura police station has been suspended after a notorious burglar, Sheikh Saleem alias Saleem, a native of Mumbai, was found wearing his police uniform.

Saleem, who was recently arrested in Pune by the Indiranagar police, had his mobile phone seized during the operation. He was arrested regarding a theft case that took place on June 23. While examining the phone, police found images of him posing in a police uniform bearing the nameplate of constable HR Sonar. According to officials, Saleem had made a video call to his wife in police uniform to show off. "We are probing the nexus between the suspended police constable and the notorious interstate criminal. We are also checking if Sonar was involved in any thefts with Saleem," an officer said.

D Devaraja, DCP (East), suspended the constable for dereliction of duty. Officials revealed that a year ago, Saleem had been arrested by Govindapura police. During a recovery operation, he was kept in a hotel room while in police custody. Constable Sonar, who was accompanying him, had removed his uniform before stepping out. During this time, Saleem put on the uniform and made a video call to his wife.

Saleem has committed thefts in Bengaluru, Mumbai, and Pune. In 2021, during a raid by the CCB at the Bengaluru Central Prison, he was found operating from within the prison and issuing instructions to his gang via a mobile phone.

SPL CABINET MEET TO DISCUSS SC CASTE SURVEY REPORT ON AUG 16

Cabinet receives Justice Nagamohan report; Govt under pressure to take call on quota slice

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @Bengaluru

THE State Cabinet has decided to discuss the Justice HN Nagamohan Das Commission's report on internal reservation for Scheduled Castes on August 16. The report was submitted to the Cabinet on Thursday.

"The Commission has surveyed 92 per cent of the people of 101 SC communities. Copies of the report have been distributed to all the members of the Cabinet. Everyone will come to the special cabinet meeting after reading the report and participate in the discussion", said Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister HK Patil.

The ministers hailing from different SC communities, including Social Welfare Minister Dr HC Mahadevappa, Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara, Food and Civil Supplies Minister KH Muniyappa, Excise Minister RB Thimmapur, RDPR Minister Priyank Kharge and Backward Classes Development minister Shivaraj Tangadagi did not speak much about the report, according to sources.

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah suggested the ministers to go through the report and come back for a positive debate in the special Cabinet.

The Congress government is seemingly under tremendous pressure with the leadership of SC Left community, which fought for internal reservation for over three decades, urging for the early implementation of the recommendations of the Commission as it was a year ago the Supreme Court, on Aug.1, 2024, pronounced that the states are constitutionally empowered to classify the SC quota.

However the Bhovi and Lambani communities' leadership want the CM not to hurry. The government has to take a decision as it cannot go ahead with recruitment without implementing sub-classification of the SC quota.

The Commission has classified the 101 castes into A,B,C,D, E categories and allotted 1, 6, 5, 4 and 1 per cent each.

The SC Left aka Madiga caste has emerged as the largest with a population of 36,69,246 (34.91%) and the Commission has recommended a 6 per cent quota out of the 17 per cent SC quota under Category B.

While the SC Right with a population of 30,08,633 (28.63%) has been earmarked 5 per cent under Category C. Bhovi, Lambani, Koracha & Korama castes with 28,34,939 (26.97%) population allotted 4 per cent under Category D.

Category A comprised 59 microscopic castes with a population 5,22,099 (4.97 per cent) and Adi Karnataka and Under category E, Adi Dravida and Adi Andhra castes with 4,74, 954 (4.53%) population allotted 1 per cent each.

Chief Minister Siddaramaiah arrives for the cabinet meeting at Vidhana Soudha in Bengaluru on Thursday | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

False claims as Bedga Jangama omitted:

In the Commission's survey 1,07,01,982 people were found enumerated as different SC castes. Of which 1,77,662 people who were falsely claimed as Budga Jangama and Beda Jangama and 14,449 who were into inter-caste marriage but found not hailing from SC castes were omitted. The Commission considered the total SC population as 1,05, 09,871 to allocate the quota, as per the report.

In the 2011 Census the population of Beda Jagama was pegged at 1.17 lakh but in the 2025 survey 3.22 lakh claimed as SCs. Since their growth was not uniform across the state the Commission found something amiss and projected their population at 1.44 lakh which was taken into consideration. The Commission has allayed the fears of SC communities on the issue of false claims as Beda Jangama caste.

CM, BJP spar over electoral fraud allegations

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

ECHOING Leader of Opposition in Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi's allegations over manipulation of electoral rolls, Chief Minister Siddaramaih said despite massive public anger, Narendra Modi returned to power as PM only through electoral fraud.

The BJP hit back at the Congress by questioning why a case wasn't filed in court within 45 days instead of holding a press conference one year later, terming it as just another drama.

"Leader of the Opposition in the Lok Sabha, Rahul Gandhi, has today exposed, with hard evidence, how widespread vote theft took place across India in the recent Lok Sabha elections. Narendra Modi became Prime Minister by misusing the Election Commission, stealing votes, and abusing power. He has no moral right to stay in office. He must resign and dissolve the government immediately," the CM posted on social media platform X.

Siddaramaiah said a detailed six-month investigation was conducted into the voter records of Mahadevapura Assembly segment, which falls under the Bengaluru Central Lok Sabha constituency. The probe uncovered precise evidence of systematic vote theft, the CM said.

He alleged that in the 2024 Lok Sabha election, the BJP misused the Election Commission and illegally secured 1,00,250 votes in Mahadevapura, a constituency with around 3.25 lakh voters, to win the seat. This scam could have been exposed within days of the election if the Election Commission had acted impartially and provided the electronic data and CCTV footage that Rahul Gandhi requested, he said. "This is not a scam limited to Mahadevapura alone, it is now clear that the BJP has used similar vote theft tactics across the country to cling to power," the CM said.

BJP hits back

Bangalore Central BJP MP PC Mohan said, "Rahul Gandhi drops an 'atom bomb' of allegations, but still can't produce a single explosive proof. If 1,00,250 votes were stolen in Mahadevapura, why wasn't a case filed in court within 45 days instead of holding a press conference one year later? This is just another drama."

He said by alleging vote theft in Mahadevapura, Rahul Gandhi has insulted the people of Bengaluru Central, especially thousands of Hindus who voted for the BJP. "Rahul Gandhi is alleging 1,00,250 vote theft in Mahadevapura, a Hindu-dominated seat, not in Shivajinagar, which is minority dominated. When Hindus vote BJP, it's called fraud. When minorities vote Congress, it's called secularism. This hypocrisy won't fool voters anymore," the BJP MP stated.

Mohan said the BJP didn't win Mahadevapura through manipulation. "We won because Hindus voted decisively against dynasty, appeasement, and entitlement. Rahul Gandhi must learn: minority-dominated constituencies are not Congress property. The voter is supreme. Accept the mandate," he said.

Leader of Opposition in the Legislative Council Chalavadi Narayanaswamy said vote theft was started by Congress when Dr BR Ambedkar lost the election by 13,000 votes, whereas 75,000 votes were declared invalid.

The BJP leader said if vote theft had taken place in Karnataka, the Congress would not have won 136 seats in the Assembly elections, and Rahul Gandhi would not have been the Leader of the Opposition in the Lok Sabha. He called Rahul Gandhi an immature politician and not to be taken seriously.

KUMAR told TNIE that no timeline has been given to him to submit the details, but the prescribed format of the declaration/oath has been given and details need to be filled and sent. In the letter, the CEO's office detailed the time series of the draft and final electoral rolls that were shared with the Congress in November 2024 and January 2025, respectively. It also stated that no appeals were made then by the party.

The declaration/oath that Rahul needs to fill reads: "I, Rahul Gandhi, Member of Parliament, do hereby solemnly affirm and state on oath that the statement I am about to make under Rule 20 of the Registration of Electors Rules, 1960, concerning:

– Name of the person(s) whose name is proposed for inclusion/ exclusion

– Part no (of electoral roll)

– Serial no (in the electoral roll, if available) is true to the best of my knowledge and belief."

The oath adds: "I am aware that making a false declaration in connection with electoral rolls is punishable under Section 31 of the RP Act, 1950. I also understand that giving false evidence is punishable under Sections 227 of the Bharatiya Nyaya Samhita, 2023. I further declare that, although I am not/I am an elector of the said constituency, I have personal knowledge relevant to this case and am making this statement voluntarily."

Sources in the Karnataka CEO's office said earlier some concerns were raised pertaining to four constituencies in Bengaluru, and to address them, committees – each comprising IAS officers – were formed. As the election process intensified, some concerns were also raised in other districts and committees headed by KAS officers were formed to look into. "The committees in their reports had said there were no irregularities in the election process. Also, in the case of Bengaluru, the district election officer, submitted a report stating there are no irregularities," the source added.

The CEO's office confirmed a time between 1 pm and 3pm on Friday for Gandhi and the Congress delegation to meet the CEO and submit a memorandum.

Cong stir at new venue in Freedom Park

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

DESPITE forecast of rain by the Met department for Friday, the Congress is prepared for its mega protest against alleged 'vote theft', scheduled to be held at a newly built but yet-to-be-inaugurated protest venue inside Freedom Park.

This special protest arena, constructed by BBMP but not formally opened yet, is being used for the first time. It has a seating capacity for 25,000 people, and space for an additional 15,000 standing attendees. Congress leaders say they are expecting a turnout of up to 1 lakh people from across Karnataka, with some insiders even estimating a crowd of 2lakh.

Minister and local MLA Dinesh Gundu Rao, in whose constituency the venue is located, told reporters, "This space has never been used for any programme till now. It has a massive solar-panelled roof that can generate power and offers complete shelter from the rain."

Bengaluru is experiencing heavy monsoon showers, and Congress leaders are banking on the pucca roof to ensure the protest is not disrupted.

Since the venue has not yet been officially inaugurated by the BBMP, no rental fee or usage charges have been fixed so far. The Congress got access to the space in time for what it is calling a "people's movement to reclaim democracy". The Congress is hoping for a strong show of public support at Freedom Park on Friday. Rao said there is a lot of parking space and additional arrangements for parking will also be made.

THE Special Investigation Team (SIT) probing the alleged mass burial case in Dharmasthala village is considering taking up an expert survey with ground-penetrating radar (GPR) or other technology to search for any possible human remains at site number 13, the final burial site identified by the witness-complainant.

Sources in the SIT said expert opinion is being sought before going ahead with the exhumation process due to the presence of electricity lines and proximity of the spot to the main road. "We are focusing on spot 13 only now," an officer associated with SIT told TNIE.

Meanwhile, Shyam Sundar of Nada village in Belthangady taluk, has written to the SIT to keep the witness-complainant in their custody for an impartial probe into the case.

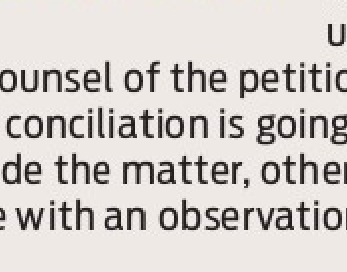
UNIONS CALL OFF INDEFINITE TRANSPORT STRIKE



Bengaluru: The Joint Action Committee of Trade Unions of KSRTC Employees informed the Karnataka High Court on Thursday that they have resolved unanimously to call off their indefinite transport strike with immediate effect. Placing the memo filed by the counsel of the union on record, a division bench of Chief Justice Vibhu Bakhru and Justice C M Joshi disposed of the petition filed by J Sunil and others against the indefinite strike. The court had stayed the strike for a day on Monday to learn about the negotiations between the trade unions and the state government on various demands of transport employees. However, as the strike went ahead, the court on Tuesday warned of initiating contempt action against the trade unions while also taking them to task, saying that they cannot hold the public to ransom and cause inconvenience. The court had also extended the stay for the strike till Thursday. On Thursday, the trade unions filed a resolution to call off the strike. Thereafter, the court was informed by counsel of the petitioners, Deeksha Amrutesh, that the strike was called off after the interim order and conciliation is going on. She also requested the court to fix a timeline for the government to decide the matter, otherwise a similar scenario would arise again. However, the court disposed of the case with an observation to let the conciliation go on as anyway, the strike has been called off. ENS

'Nothing but an insult to people of Telangana'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Hyderabad

A visibly angry Telangana Chief Minister A Revanth Reddy on Thursday accused Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Union Home Minister Amit Shah of obstructing efforts by a delegation from Telangana to secure an appointment with President Droupadi Murmu.

Telangana CM Revanth Reddy addresses the media in New Delhi on Thursday

"We had sought an appointment with the President 10 days ago. After our request, both the prime minister and the home minister met her. We do not know what was discussed during that meeting. However, our ministers, Konda Surekha, D Sridhar Babu and Ponnam Prabhakar, and TPCC president B Mahesh Kumar Goud believe that the PM, the union home minister, and the Union government have deliberately prevented us from getting an appointment," Revanth told reporters in Delhi.

He added that the delegation had been waiting for two days to meet the President but was yet to receive confirmation. "This is nothing but an insult to the people of Telangana," the chief minister said.

He attributed the alleged obstruction to the "anti-BC stand of both the BJP and BRS". Revanth accused the two parties of collusion and of betraying BCs in the state. He likened the BRS's stance to playing the role of "Shikhandi" while declaring that the Congress would not allow the BJP to cross 150 seats in the next Lok Sabha elections.

Urging the Union government to approve the bills ensuring 42% reservation for BCs, the chief minister stated that the Congress would decide its course of action after a meeting of the Political Affairs Committee (PAC). "We will discuss legal strategies and protest plans in the PAC meeting. After consulting senior leaders, we will determine how to implement 42% reservation for BCs," he said.

Reiterating his earlier claim, the chief minister said: "You (BJP) fight under Narendra Modi's leadership, and we fight under Rahul Gandhi's. I repeat, BJP will not cross 150 seats. Modi introduced the 75-year age limit to sideline leaders like LK Advani and Murli Manohar Joshi. Atal Bihari Vajpayee attempted to remove Modi but failed. Mohan Bhagwat is trying, but he is also not succeeding. Under Rahul Gandhi's leadership, we will remove Modi from the prime minister's chair."

Kerala BJP alleges massive voter list fraud

T'PURAM: The Kerala unit of the BJP on Thursday levelled serious allegations of large-scale irregularities in the recently released draft voters list, accusing the ruling Left of orchestrating a manipulation campaign with the support of government officials. BJP state general secretary Anoop Antony claimed that the party had detected over 5 lakh discrepancies across the state. "We have identified three major types of manipulations: multiple voters sharing the same identity card number, individuals possessing more than one voter ID, and voters registered in multiple locations. This is a criminal offence," he said.

Honorarium delays hit weather observers in K'taka

INDRA S @Bengaluru

OVER 200 outsourced weather observers operating manual rain gauges for the India Meteorological Department (IMD) across Karnataka have not received their honorarium for over a year, with some awaiting payments since 2023. The delays have disrupted daily rainfall reporting from key locations in the Western Ghats, resulting in significant data gaps in IMD's public rainfall updates.

Manual weather observers play a vital role in rainfall monitoring system, particularly in remote, high-rainfall areas like the Western Ghats. These observers travel daily, often in difficult conditions, to collect rainfall data, which feeds into IMD's ground-level datasets. Their reports are critical for real-time weather forecasting, flood and landslide alerts, and long-term climatological records. When their data is delayed or missing, it has wide reaching consequences. Emergency response, infrastructure planning, and climate modelling all depend on consistent and accurate rainfall records. Even a single day's gap can compromise the reliability of historical climate data, highlighting the importance of timely compensation and support for these observers.

B Honnappa, 51, a weather observer from Bhagamandala in Kodagu who has been collecting rainfall data for 28 years, told TNIE, "The honorarium paid is Rs 30 to Rs 40 a day and it adds to nearly Rs 10,000. It is usually paid twice a year, but I haven't received any payment for the last two years."

Santhosh, 48, from Castle Rock village in Uttara Kannada, where annual rainfall ranges from 6,000 to 7,000 mm, said, "I received a partial payment of Rs 4,000, and that too six months ago. This is the only payment I have received in the past two years."

The consequences of these delays are now visible in IMD's rainfall dashboards. "Readers are not providing data because they are not being paid," said Ravi Keerthi, a regular data user and weather observer from Mysuru. "I track Bhagamandala data, which went missing for several days in July. Stations like Castle Rock, Bhagamandala, Somwarpet, and many others are showing data gaps during the monsoon season," he said.

When contacted by TNIE, N Puviarasan, Director of IMD Bengaluru, said, "We have cleared dues up to June 2024. The pending amounts will be released soon. There have been delays due to implementation of e-office but we are working to resolve them at the earliest."

Wildlife board suggests relocation of tribals demanding power

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

MEMBERS of the State Board for Wildlife, at the third standing committee meeting on Thursday, suggested relocation of tribals from Kudremukh Wildlife Sanctuary, instead of providing electricity to them inside the forest patch. At a meeting chaired by Karnataka Forest, Environment and Ecology minister Eshwar B Khandre, it was suggested that rehabilitation was a better option. "Since very few people of the many hamlets are demanding electricity, shifting them outside the forests is a better and viable option," sources told TNIE. It was also decided to conduct a resurvey of Shettihalli forest patch and include areas that have been left out. The minister was also apprised of the track doubling proposal from Castlerock to Hosapete, for which it was decided that a committee would be formed to assess and submit a report on the wildlife and environmental impact of the project, and table the report at the next meeting.

The proposal to erect 4G towers inside Kali Tiger Reserve was rejected, as this has been dropped by the National Board for Wildlife. Khandre instructed officials to visit villages abutting forests once a month, and hold meetings with villagers to address their grievances. He said this was essential in the wake of the recent death of five tigers in Malai Mahadeshwara Hills Wildlife Sanctuary.

FIRST MARINE SANCTUARY IN UK DISTRICT

Karnataka Forest, Environment and Ecology minister Eshwar B Khandre said Karnataka's first marine wildlife sanctuary, the Apsarakonda-Mughali Marine Wildlife Sanctuary in Uttara Kannada, will be inaugurated in September. Speaking on the sidelines of the wildlife standing committee meeting, he said the proposal to declare the sanctuary was approved by the cabinet. The sanctuary runs for 7km from Manki to Kasargod. It includes 835 hectares (Ha) of beach area and surrounding forests, and 6km of the Arabian Sea. Khandre said 5124.302Ha of water area will be a part of the sanctuary. The declaration of the sanctuary will help protect aquatic species, including sea turtles and dolphins.

TRUMP TARIFFS

Siddu slams PM for 'headline management'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

KARNATAKA Chief Minister Siddaramaiah has termed US President Donald Trump's decision to impose 50% tariff on Indian goods as economic blackmail. Accusing the Union Government of ignoring Leader of Opposition in Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi's warnings, the CM said that the US decision to impose 50% tariff is economic blackmail, the result of Prime Minister Narendra Modi prioritising headline management over real diplomacy and national interest.

Taking to the social media platform X, Siddaramaiah said that since 2019, PM Modi has gone out of his way to please Trump, but he wasn't impressed and saw it not as diplomacy, but as surrender.

Siddadamaiah said Trump claimed 33 times that he brokered peace between India and Pakistan. "Now, Trump hits India with unfair tariffs. Worse, he is coercing us to cut ties with Russia, a direct attack on our sovereignty. No foreign power can dictate our trade choices. This is the cost of running foreign policy like a personal PR campaign," the CM added.

Siddaramaiah said that in 1970s, the then PM Indira Gandhi stood firm against American pressure. Instead of attacking her legacy, PM Modi should learn from it, the CM said, and added that India must uphold its strategic autonomy with dignity, not surrender it for photo-ops.

Formidable alliance a strategic move, not a sign of AIADMK's weakness: EPS

T MURUGANANDHAM @Chennai

AIADMK general secretary Edappadi K Palaniswami, in an exclusive interview to TNIE, said that the allegations of BJP's interference, if the AIADMK-BJP alliance wins the 2026 Assembly elections, are being raised by DMK and its allies since they are afraid of their defeat. He said that his emphasis on a formidable alliance to defeat DMK is a strategic move to defeat a powerful adversary and not a sign of AIADMK's weakness since his party has contested and won on its own, many times in the past.

Former TN CM Edappadi K Palaniswami

To the ruling DMK's criticism that AIADMK has not imposed any conditions on BJP on important issues like exempting Tamil Nadu from NEET, and release of school education funds without insisting on implementing the three-language formula, Palaniswami said these issues pertained to the union government and hence they need not be imposed as conditions for forming an alliance for Assembly elections. He questioned the DMK's failure to ensure states' autonomy in the field of education when it was part of the governments at the centre in the past.

Reiterating his strong criticisms of the incumbent government on the issues of law and order and fiscal management, he said he could sense from the public that they have decided to "gift" a resounding defeat to the DMK in the 2026 polls.

Transparent transfers after 8 years: Gundu Rao

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

KARNATAKA Health Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao on Thursday stated that, after eight years, the transfer of all staff and employees in the Department of Health and Family Welfare has been conducted transparently through counselling. Addressing the media, he said that specialist doctors have been assigned to all taluk hospitals through this process.

The transfer exercise, held from June 19 to July 3, involved the relocation of 5,676 officers and staff. Of these, 21 belong to Group A, 15 to Group B, 4,046 to Group C, and 680 to Group D, Rao said.

Rao said, "During this counselling, priority was given to filling long-vacant posts in the maternal and child care departments at taluk hospitals. The transfer process was conducted in a way that ensures the presence of at least one gynaecologist, anaesthesiologist, and paediatrician at each taluk hospital. In addition, steps are being taken to appoint two gynaecologists, paediatricians, and anaesthesiologists in every taluk hospital. Approval for this will be sought in the next cabinet meeting."

He said that with this, doctors will be available in taluk hospitals 24 hours a day. He further stated that there is a shortage of 2,000 MBBS doctors and 185 specialist doctors, and steps are being taken to fill these vacancies.

@Angod (Uttara Kannada)

IN a shocking incident, a Siddi woman from Angod village in Yellapur taluk, Uttara Kannada district, allegedly committed suicide by immolating herself after dousing herself with kerosene. The deceased has been identified as Lakshmi Siddi (48).

According to her daughter Mangala Siddi, who stays with her three children near Idagundi in Yellapur taluk near her mother's house, Lakshmi took the extreme step as she did not have anything to eat for the past two days. Mangala said that her mother killed herself as she was unable to bear the pangs of hunger.

Mangala claimed that her mother had not eaten anything for the last two days, and there were no groceries in her house to prepare food for herself. She was also unable to work for a living due to her poor health. "She lived alone and had several health issues. There was no ration card either, and no benefits from the government's guarantee schemes reached her. I could not help her all the time because we are surviving on the money sent by my husband, Premanand Nagappa Sidhi, who works in Goa as a daily wage labourer and even as a home nurse," she said.

Mangala said that her mother refused to come and stay with her. "I called her many times, but she refused, saying it will not be the right thing to do. I would give her whatever I had with me after sparing some for my children. However, she was in depression as she didn't have the strength to work, and there was nobody to take care of her. She took the extreme step on August 2, 2025."

Uttara Kananda Superintendent of Police Deepan MN said, "Lakshmi sustained severe burn injuries and was admitted to a hospital in Yellapur after the incident. But since she had sustained serious burns, she was taken to Karnataka Institute of Medical Sciences Hospital in Hubballi, where she died on Wednesday night."

A complaint has been lodged with Yellapur police.

CLOUDBURST-LIKE DOWNPOUR BRINGS HYDERABAD TO A CRAWL

HIMALAYAN HAVOC: FRAGILE ECOSYSTEM LED TO THE BRINK

THE patience of nature's fragile ecosystem in Himachal Pradesh and Uttarakhand is wearing thin. At least 15 cloudbursts and flash floods have taken a heavy toll on human lives and infrastructure in upper Himachal and the Kumaon-Garhwal region since late June. In Uttarakhand, the fury wiped out picturesque Dharali earlier this week and more such devastation is forecast. The reason is evident: rising temperatures increase moisture in the atmosphere in the hilly region, causing extreme weather conditions, and the ground situation exacerbates the mess. Dharali, which sprang up close to Khirganga, a placid mountain stream, is a classic example. The stream looks shallow and innocent, and unregulated construction encroached on its course and banks. The volumes of concrete weakened the region's capacity to withstand heavy rains and buckled under cloudbursts. Hundreds of streams and rivers continue to groan under chaotic construction. The ecological strain that the Char Dham all-weather project and similar highways and tunnels cause is well documented.

The administration is at fault for promoting tourism—the primary source of revenue—without considering topographic studies in both states. The Himalayan terrain is geologically young. Its fragility makes it sensitive to any disruption. If forests are cut rampantly, stream courses are changed, and slopes are weakened by scraping or expanding them, fissures appear in the terrain's rock structure. The hills become landslide-prone. The streams erupt into torrents in heavy rains. Adventure tourism in Himachal Pradesh and religious tourism in Uttarakhand are the reasons why the construction spree never stops. Yesterday's pilgrims are today's consumers, seeking the trappings of urban facilities in the pristine hills, which cannot take the pressure of lakhs of vehicles, hotels, and homestays. Even the Supreme Court lamented recently that Himachal could "disappear" if the mayhem went on.

Dharali is the latest wake-up call we ignore at our peril. Scientists already warn of more glacial bursts like the one near the Nanda Devi massif in Chamoli in 2021. The to-do list is straightforward: halt construction in ecologically sensitive zones; relocate current habitats along water banks and mountain cliffs in these zones; conduct an independent environmental audit; mandate climate-resilient infrastructure norms; set up sustainable limits to tourism; avoid building roads without proper drainage; and implement rubble disposal rules. Do not tame the Himalayas like the plains.

FIX EXAM GLITCHES THAT HARM ASPIRANTS' FUTURES

SEVEN years after a Staff Selection Commission exam was investigated for widespread irregularities and paper leaks, another SSC exam has hit the headlines for the wrong reasons. Software crashes, faulty biometric systems, and wrong locations assigned to candidates have forced the authorities to rethink the Phase 13 exams held between July 24 and August 1. Several candidates who had travelled long distances became aware of the disruptions upon arrival. Worse, protests by some job aspirants and their teachers, who demanded an independent investigation and reforms in the exam's management, faced the police's high-handedness. SSC Chairman S Gopalakrishnan indicated in a media interview that a fresh test may be held for candidates who did not get a "fair chance" during the original test window.

These are not isolated cases—a pattern emerges when seen along with the troubles concerning several other exams conducted by central authorities. A Railway Recruitment Board exam in March to recruit assistant locomotive pilots was partially cancelled due to technical glitches related to improper loading of question papers at some centres. The National Eligibility cum Entrance Test for medical seats conducted by the National Testing Agency (NTA) has faced tech malfunctions for the past 3 years. The Delhi High Court recently asked the NTA to set up a grievance redress committee for the candidates who lost exam time because of such problems at NEET-UG 2025.

Meanwhile, calls for systemic reforms to ensure fair and glitch-free practices at SSC exams are gaining ground. Candidates are demanding a thorough probe into the tech companies whose track records have been poor. It raises the larger consequential question about our ability to handle large-scale recruitment drives. Tech insufficiencies cannot be an excuse given to the ever-increasing number of candidates in the world's most populous country. The recurring glitches also reflect poorly on the country's image as a leading supplier of IT services across the globe.

The government ought to set up a permanent, robust and tested infrastructure to ensure smooth management of these highly competitive exams. No student should ever have to lose valuable exam time and suffer heightened mental stress because of technical failures. India's youth deserves a far better shot at securing their future.

QUICK TAKE

FILL THE VACCINE BLANKS

A bad news for the US could be an opportunity for India. The US health department is terminating 22 federal contracts for mRNA-based vaccines, questioning the safety of a technology credited with helping end the Covid pandemic. The decision—which could affect $500 million in funds—is owed to health secretary Robert F Kennedy Jr's long-held vaccine scepticism. India, which boasts of being one of the largest vaccine exporters including mRNA ones, could step up to fill the gap. At the same time, the government must fund and coordinate research into the after-effects of vaccines, especially among children, to dispel the bubbles of suspicion that have floated up in India as well.

BOLD ROADMAP TO AN ECONOMIC DAWN IN KERALA

SHASHI THAROOR

Fourth-term Lok Sabha MP, Chairman of Standing Committee on External Affairs, and Sahitya Akademi-winning author of 24 books

SOURAV ROY

KERALA, long celebrated as god's own country, is today grappling with an economic paradox that belies its natural beauty and human development achievements. While the state boasts of high literacy rates, robust healthcare systems, and a globally admired social model, its economic underpinnings are alarmingly fragile.

The state's unemployment rate stood at 9.6 percent in 2022-23, significantly higher than the national average of 4.1 percent. The industrial sector remains stagnant, contributing only 23 percent to the gross state domestic product, compared to the national average of 29 percent. Meanwhile, Kerala's public debt has surged to ₹3.57 lakh crore, exacerbated by declining central transfers and fiscal constraints. The state government spends more every year on debt servicing than on development—and it ends up borrowing more to pay off the interest on its past borrowings.

Kerala's economy has long been buoyed by remittances from its diaspora, but this over-reliance on external inflows—which once accounted for nearly 30 percent of Kerala's economy—has left the state vulnerable to global shocks. The pandemic-induced disruptions exposed the fragility of this model, with remittances declining and unemployment surging.

The unemployment rate remains stubbornly high, the industrial sector stagnant, and the fiscal health precarious, with mounting debt and dwindling revenues. Meanwhile, the state's industrial sector remains woefully underdeveloped, hamstrung by bureaucratic red tape, outdated labour laws, and an aversion to private enterprise. The agricultural sector, once a cornerstone of Kerala's economy, has also suffered from declining productivity and climate-related challenges.

If Kerala is to reclaim its place as a beacon of progress, it must confront these challenges with bold, pragmatic reforms that prioritise ease of doing business, investor confidence, and sustainable development. To extricate itself from this economic quagmire, Kerala must embrace a new paradigm that fosters entrepreneurship, attracts investment, and ensures equitable growth.

For instance, under the Kerala Shops and Commercial Establishments Act, 1960, women working night shifts must be grouped in teams of at least five, with a minimum of two female employees per group, for safety reasons. Employers are also required to provide safe transportation for female employees commuting during night hours. While these provisions aim to ensure safety, they also limit employment opportunities for women in sectors that require flexible work arrangements, such as IT and hospitality. Employment laws specify too many details, which can sometimes reduce Kerala's competitiveness in attracting IT firms, especially when compared to states with more flexible labour laws. Many companies have argued in favour of a broad mandate—for example, a 45-hour work week—with the actual details left to the company to apply in accordance to its practices and operational requirements. By amending the law to balance worker rights with economic competitiveness, Kerala can unlock its full potential and position itself as a leading hub for innovation and investment.

On the ease of doing business, which has increasingly become an empty slogan, Kerala must shed its reputation as a bureaucratic labyrinth and create an environment where businesses can thrive without undue interference. This requires streamlining regulatory processes, digitising approvals, and ensuring time-bound clearances. Kerala is notorious for the number of hurdles any proposal must clear before it sees the light of day. While the state government claims to have streamlined clearances, investors and businesspeople tell me a different story. The state should slash regulations and establish single-window systems across the board (and not just in one or two favoured areas) for investors and entrepreneurs, reducing the procedural delays.

An additional safeguard I have long advocated is investor protection legislation. Confidence is the currency of investment, and Kerala must enact robust investor protection laws to attract both domestic and foreign capital. These laws should guarantee transparency, enforceable contracts, and swift dispute resolution mechanisms. They must also guarantee that no project, once approved, will be vulnerable to the political and bureaucratic interference that in the past has led to investor suicides, a uniquely Kerala phenomenon. Once the government has approved a project, investors must be guaranteed that their funds are invulnerable to regulatory extortion, political blackmail or frivolous litigation—that the state, not the investor, will assume the regulatory risk, and businesspeople will only have to bear business losses.

Additionally, Kerala's strengths in education and healthcare can be harnessed to build a knowledge-driven economy. The state should invest in research and development hubs, foster public-private partnerships, and incentivise startups in emerging fields like biogenetics, biotechnology, artificial intelligence, renewable energy, and sustainable agriculture. As a highly-educated state with an openness to innovation, Kerala can actively court greenfield investments in these sectors. Tourism, a traditional strength, must be reimagined with a focus on eco-tourism and cultural heritage, ensuring that it remains a sustainable revenue stream. Given our long coastline, new avenues must be explored in shipbuilding, logistics, and marine research.

Economic revival is not merely a matter of policy, but of political will and visionary leadership. I have long argued that Kerala's leaders must rise above partisan politics to forge a consensus-driven approach that prioritises the state's long-term prosperity over short-term gains. People are tired of the constant back-and-forth negativism that characterises politics in the state. They want a focus on the future. Yes, the state's reputation as a leftist bastion has held it back; but public awareness campaigns are essential to help dispel misconceptions about private enterprise, fostering a culture that values innovation and entrepreneurship.

The challenges are formidable, but not insurmountable. The state's human capital, natural resources, and cultural riches provide a strong foundation for renewal. By embracing ease of doing business, investor protection, and technology-driven sectoral innovation, Kerala can chart a path toward inclusive and sustainable growth, ensuring that its economy is as vibrant as its landscapes. The time for action is now. Assembly elections are just nine months away. Kerala must shed its inertia, embrace reform, and reclaim its rightful place as a model of progress and prosperity. In Tagore's words, "Faith is the bird that feels the light and sings when the dawn is still dark." For the economy, it is still dark in Kerala, but the glimmer of dawn is visible. We must find that faith—and act upon it.

WHEN SILENCE IS NOT GOLDEN

A FAIZUR RAHMAN

Secretary-General, Islamic Forum for the Promotion of Moderate Thought

ACROSS time and cultures, the adage 'silence is golden' has come to embody the virtue of restraint in speech. It perhaps originated in the ninth-century Arabic saying: "If speech is silver, then silence is gold." The sentiment it conveys echoes in religious traditions, too.

Prophet Muhammad, as reported in Sahih al-Bukhari, advised Muslims to either speak good or remain silent. The Epistle of James in the New Testament urged Christians to be "quick to listen and slow to speak". And in its 17th chapter, the Bhagavad Gita describes silence (maunam) as an "austerity of the mind" (tapo maanasam).

Such pronouncements have strengthened the belief that silence is not the absence of speech, but the presence of meaning—deep, intentional, and spiritual. However, this perception often overlooks the fact that what the aphorisms endorsed was judicious restraint, not muteness born of indecision or avoidance. In other words, silence is noble only when it is chosen as a form of prudence in the face of great responsibility. When it accompanies oppression, it joins in the crime and becomes its voice.

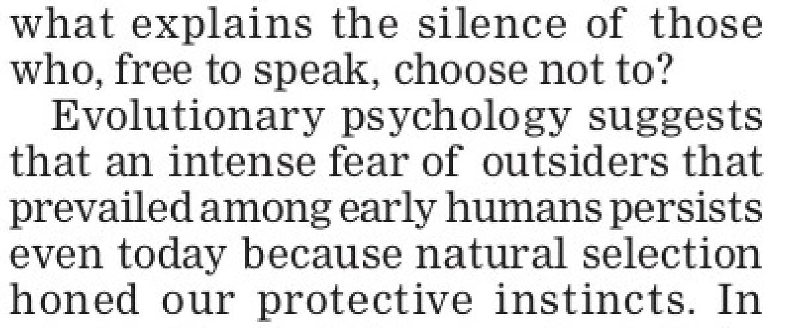
Hence, Prophet Muhammad declared that the highest form of jihad is "a word of justice" (kalimatu adl) spoken against a tyrannical ruler (sultaanin jaa'ir). Jesus too inspired courage in his followers saying: "What I tell you in the dark, speak in the daylight; what is whispered in your ear, proclaim from the rooftops." And in the Bhagavad Gita, Lord Krishna tells Arjuna that there is nothing more honourable than fighting a righteous war (dharmyam sangramam) to uphold justice.

Indeed, no serious philosophy upholds silence as a virtue when injustice demands a response. Yet, betraying its original nuance, the phrase "silence is golden" has been used to shield selfishness or cowardice, thus transforming silence into quiet hypocrisy.

Nowhere is this more apparent than in the political quiescence surrounding Israel's ongoing assault on Gaza—an onslaught that many experts now describe as genocide. It has already claimed over 60,000 lives, razed entire neighbourhoods, and now threatens to starve a million innocent people to death, including countless children.

Silence in the face of these atrocities can perhaps be excused in lands where denouncing Israel brings the threat of imprisonment or worse. But what explains the silence of those who, free to speak, choose not to?

Evolutionary psychology suggests that an intense fear of outsiders that prevailed among early humans persists even today because natural selection honed our protective instincts. In contrast, modern humans possess the cognitive sophistication necessary for negotiation or conflict resolution. Yet, they exhibit atavistic tendencies as if evolution had passed them by.



AFP

> Several significant philosophies have extolled the virtue of silence as a form of prudence. It can also be a powerful form of resistance for the oppressed who are stunned into wordlessness. But staying silent on the genocide happening in Gaza is an outright moral failure

Scientifically speaking, behavioural modernity equipped Homo sapiens with remarkable cognitive powers such as abstract thought, complex language, social cooperation, cultural imagination, and technological innovation. These advances should have made us more empathetic and peaceable. Yet the paradox of our species is that we used the very intellect evolution granted us to refine violence. We expanded organised warfare, perfected weapons of mass destruction, and became more violent than Neanderthals ever were.

Among the non-violent majority, human fellowship failed in subtler ways—through social identitarianism, propaganda, and ignorance of history. If most people today confine their solidarity to those who share their nationality, religion, or class, it is because disinformation-driven mistrust paints the 'other' as a threat. As a result, even after being endowed with the capacity for unity, we chose division.

This moral failure often takes the form of silence, cloaked in specious justifications: that the victims are in a distant land; that speaking out brings us no gain, while staying quiet costs us nothing; that condemning genocide might endanger our interests; that a single voice cannot sway the oppressors; and that our solidarity will do little to alter the victims' fate.

But these are lame excuses. They are shamelessly invoked to avoid confessing the uncomfortable truth: we are silent because we don't care.

Needless to say, it cannot be denied that silence can, at times, be a powerful form of resistance. But this holds only for the oppressed who are stunned into wordlessness by trauma. For those who watch from safety, silence is no act of dignity or courage. It is an abdication of social responsibility by which they not just surrender their freedom of speech but lose their humanity.

This makes reclaiming our humanity the biggest requirement for most of us today. But it is not an easy task. Mirza Ghalib had warned: "Bas ke dushwaar hai har kaam ka aasaan hona / Aadmi ko bhi muyassar nahin insaan hona" (Because it is difficult for every task to be easy / Even man finds it hard to become human).

Indeed, to look human is easy; to be one is not. Humanity is about preserving the humanitarian traits that nature has given us. The highest among them in the present state of affairs is our courage to speak for the victims of genocidal violence. We may find temporary refuge in silence. But in the end, silence is a verdict. It does not shield us—it condemns us.

13 HC judges urge CJ to defy SC order on Justice Kumar

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

IN an unprecedented move, 13 judges of Allahabad High Court, taking exception to the observations made by a division bench of the Supreme Court on a sitting judge of the HC, urged the Chief Justice of the court to call a full court meeting and also defy the SC order on August 4 that took away Justice Prashant Kumar's criminal roaster until his retirement.

The 13 judges, writing a letter to the Chef Justice, urged that the directions made in paragraph 24 to 26 of the Supreme Court order regarding the HC judge should not to be complied with, as according to them, "the Supreme Court does not have administrative superintendence over the High Courts."

The judges also urged the full court of Allahabad HC to "record its anguish with respect to the tone and tenor of the said order of the SC".

A full court refers to an HC session where all or a significant number of the court's judges are present.

A SC division bench, comprising Justice JB Pardiwala and Justice R Mahadevan, had criticised an order passed by Justice Prashant Kumar directing the HC Chief Justice to make him sit with a senior judge in a division bench. The SC had also observed that no criminal matters should be allotted to Justice Kumar.

The letter, dated August 7, signed by Justice Arindam Sinha of the HC, in his individual capacity and addressed to the chief Justice, says: "I being a judge of Allahabad HC extended to the judiciary, was shocked by the order dated August 4 of the SC, wherein, the stands mentioned name of my colleague and inter alia, administrative directions to you regarding assignment of nomination to be given to the learned judge."

The letter was circulated for support under Chapter III, Rule 9 of Allahabad High Court Rules, 1952 and it was signed by at least 12 more judges of HC. The letter mentions that the observations made by the Supreme Court against a HC judge violated the principles laid down by the Supreme Court itself in Amar Pal Singh V. State of UP, 2012, wherein, it was emphasised that the high courts must exercise restraint while commenting on judicial officers who are not present to defend themselves.

The SC is scheduled to hear again on Friday the matter in which it had earlier ordered for taking away criminal cases from Justice Kumar.

UP police rapped over delay in action

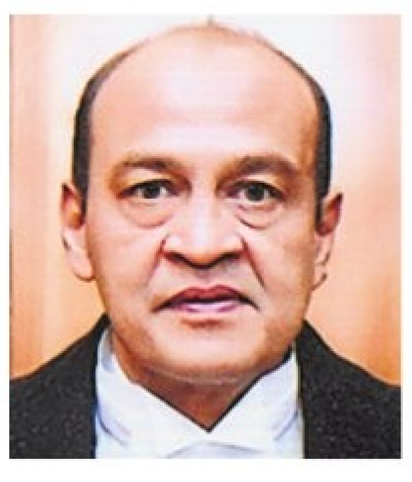
The SC on Thursday directed the UP police to visit an eyewitness in the 2021 Lakhimpur Kheri violence case to verify his complaint of being threatened for testifying against Ashish Mishra. Expressing dissatisfaction over the UP government for not registering an FIR despite a formal complaint the top court asked police to look into the issue immediately.

SC rejects Justice Varma's petition against in-house probe in cash recovery

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Thursday rejected Justice Yashwant Varma's appeal challenging the in-house probe report, which held him guilty of misconduct in the case of cash recovery at his residence.

The bench of Justices Dipankar Datta and Augustine George Masih said, "We have held that the CJI and the committee had scrupulously followed the process except uploading photos and video, and we have said it was not required. But nothing turned on it because you did not challenge it then."



The legal option available to Justice Varma now is to file a review and a curative petition. But the same bench would hear these pleas as well.

The SC rejected Justice Varma's claim that the non-grant of a hearing to the judge by the then CJI before recommending his removal doesn't violate any procedure, adding that, as such, a hearing can't be claimed as a matter of right.

"The CJI, as the leader of the judiciary, apart from his various other duties, owes a duty to the people of the country to keep the justice delivery system pure, clean and unpolluted. It is unreasonable even to think that, despite an incident of the present nature, the CJI would wait for Parliament to take action. As observed before, it is up to Parliament to decide whether or not to activate Article 124." the SC said.

The SC noted, "We repeat, the office of the CJI is not to be regarded as a post office that the report should only be routed through the CJI without his observations."

The SC also rejected his plea that it was wrong that the then CJI recommended to the President and Prime Minister to initiate the removal motion against him.

The court passed the verdict after deliberating on various factors including maintainability, legal procedure, violation of rights, compliance with the process, communications to the Executive and liberty of the plea.

We are very excited to learn about the visit of President Putin to India. Summit-level meetings have always been watershed points for the relationship.

Ajit Doval, National Security Advisor

Dates are being worked out for Putin visit: Doval

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

NATIONAL Security Adviser Ajit Doval met Russian President Vladimir Putin in Moscow on Thursday, amid escalating pressure from Washington over India's continued strategic and energy ties with Russia. Doval was accompanied by Indian Ambassador to Russia Vinay Kumar during the meeting.

Earlier in the day, Doval held high-level talks with Russian Security Council Secretary Sergey Shoigu, focusing on defence cooperation and broader strategic alignment. The visit comes just days after U.S. President Donald Trump announced an additional 25% tariff on Indian goods, citing New Delhi's ongoing oil imports from Russia—raising total duties to 50%.

The meeting underscored the growing alignment between New Delhi and Moscow amid global realignments and reaffirmed their commitment to a "special and privileged strategic partnership."

During the talks, Shoigu stressed the importance of "strong, time-tested ties of friendship" between the two nations, calling for full-scale negotiations between President Vladimir Putin and Prime Minister Narendra Modi to further deepen bilateral ties. He described India as a key partner in building a "more just and sustainable world order," based on mutual respect and shared interests.

Doval, meanwhile, said that President Putin is expected to visit India soon. Sources said both sides are in discussion for finalising an early mutually convenient date for the visit. Dates in late September or early October are currently being discussed, though both sides have yet to officially confirm the visit.

President Lula dials Modi

Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Brazilian President Luiz Inácio Lula da Silva held a phone conversation on Thursday, reaffirming their commitment to deepening the India-Brazil Strategic Partnership across key sectors. The call comes at a time when both countries are facing steep tariffs from the US—each now subject to a 50% duty on select exports.

Nominations kick in for Sept 9 V-P poll

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

WITH the Election Commission of India (ECI) notifying the Vice-Presidential Election on Thursday, the process of filing nominations has begun. Voting is on September 9 and the result will be announced the same evening.

August 21 is the last date for filing nominations and the scrutiny of nomination papers is on August. August 25 is the last date for withdrawal.

The Election for the 17th Vice President of India was necessitated following the sudden resignation of Jagdeep Dhankhar.

The Constitution of India mandates the ECI to conduct the Vice-Presidential election "as early as possible"" in the event of a vacancy mid-term either on account of resignation or demise. The newly elected Vice President is entitled to have a full five-year term from the date he or she assumes office.

The 543-member Lok Sabha has one vacant seat, Basirhat in West Bengal, while there are five vacancies in the 245-member Rajya Sabha. Of the fiven vacancies in the Rajya Sabha, four are from Jammu and Kashmir, and one from Punjab, which was vacated by AAP leader Sanjeev Arora, who quit following his Election to the state assembly in a by-poll last month.

The effective strength of both the Houses together is 786 and the winning candidate will require 394 votes, considering that all eligible voters exercise their franchise. In the Lok Sabha, the BJP-led NDA enjoys the support of 293 of the 542 members and in the Rajya Sabha the ruling alliance has the support of 129 members.

Assuming that the nominated members vote in support of the NDA nominee, the ruling alliance's candidate will have the support of 422 members. However, for voting in the Vice-Presidential Election, no party can issue whip to its members and the anti-defection law does not apply on them.

3 candidates rejected

Three persons submitted nominations for the September 9 vice-presidential poll on Thursday but all of them were rejected on technical grounds. The nominations were received from K Padmarajan of Salem (TN), Jeevan Kumar Mittal (Moti Nagar, Delhi) and Naidugari Rajasekhar of Srimukhalingam Village (Andhra Pradesh).

Names of Devvrat, Gehlot & Chari doing the rounds

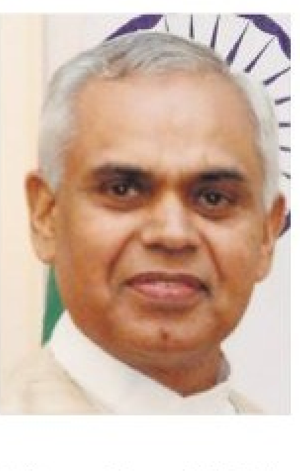
RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

THE National Democratic Alliance (NDA) on Thursday unanimously authorised Prime Minister Narendra Modi and BJP president JP Nadda to finalise a suitable candidate for the Vice-Presidential post, for which the election schedule has already been announced. Thursday was the first day for filing nominations.

Defence Minister Rajnath Singh chaired the NDA meeting in the Parliament complex. The Election Commission of India has already initiated the electoral process.

Union Parliamentary Affairs Minister Kiren Rijiju said, "The NDA allies have decided to go with the PM Modi and BJP chief JP Nadda's joint pick for the Vice President."

TDP parliamentary leader Lavu Sri Krishna attended the NDA meeting, along with Devarayalu, Rajiv Ranjan Singh of JDU, Chirag Paswan of LJP(VP), Shrikant Shinde of Shivsena and BJP leaders Amit Shah, Kiren Rijiju, and others.



Sources within the NDA hinted that the BJP has begun shortlisting potential candidates. These names will be placed before PM Modi by the BJP president for deliberation and final decision soon.

Sources indicated the possibility of a serving or former governor, or a senior and experienced BJP leader being considered. The names of Acharya Devvrat (governor Gujarat),Thawarchand Gehlot ,governor Karnataka, and Sheshadri Chari are among other names which are prominently doing the rounds across political circles.

The BJP is expected to announce the name of the NDA's candidate at a media briefing between August 18 and 20.

On Rahul dinner menu, V-P election, SIR and J&K statehood restoration

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

AT the meeting of the Opposition INDIA bloc hosted by Leader of Opposition Rahul Gandhi on Thursday, the parties have decided to finalise a candidate for the vice-presidential election after the National Democratic Alliance (NDA) announces its candidate. The meeting also deliberated on the contentious issue of ongoing Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of electoral rolls in Bihar and the statehood of Jammu and Kashmir among others.

Though over 50 senior leaders of 25 parties have attended the high-profile dinner diplomacy meet, the discussion on vice-president candidate was attended by top leaders of 12 parties. While some of the leaders expressed fears over fielding an INDIA bloc candidate against the NDA, CPM general secretary M A Baby rooted for the necessity of contesting the election, said a leader who attended the meeting.

While small parties were not called for the discussion on V-P election, the leaders who attended include Rahul Gandhi, Sonia Gandhi and Mallikarjun Kharge, SP chief Akhilesh Yadav, Shiv Sena (UBT)'s Uddhav Thackeray, DMK's Kanimozhi and Baby among others.

The highlight of the meeting was the detailed presentation by Rahul titled 'Democracy Destroyed', in which he briefed the leaders on large-scale electoral malpractices in Karnataka's Mahadevapura constituency. The parties also decided to launch a march to the Election Commission on August 11.

RJD leader Tejaswi Yadav spoke about the proposed joint campaign in the state. The parties will hold a march demanding electoral transparency.

J&K former Chief Minister Farooq Abdullah called for immediate restoration of statehood, saying that significant time has passed since the Supreme Court advised the Centre to act swiftly in the matter. He also asked the opposition parties to raise the issue in Parliament. Abdullah also spoke about the book ban.

The Opposition bloc is holding a physical meeting after a year as they last met on June 1, 2024. On July 18 this year, they held an online meeting.

Wait for NDA nominee

Over 50 senior leaders of 25 parties were present at the high-profile dinner, but the discussion on vice-president candidate was attended by top leaders of only 12 parties. The parties decided to finalise V-P candidate after the NDA announces its nominee, said sources.

Coastal Shipping Bill passed amid Oppn stir over voter list revision

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

PARLIAMENT on Thursday passed the Coastal Shipping Bill, 2025, with the Rajya Sabha giving its approval amid protests by Opposition members demanding a discussion on the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of electoral rolls in Bihar.

The proposed legislation aims to promote coastal shipping as an eco-friendly and cost-effective mode of transport while reducing the compliance burden for Indian shipping operators in line with the Centre's ease of doing business initiative. The bill, cleared by the Lok Sabha on April 3, was passed by a voice vote in the Upper House amid sloganeering by Opposition MPs.

Union Minister for Ports, Shipping and Waterways Sarbananda Sonowal, who introduced the bill, said the new framework would help unlock the full potential of India's 7,500-km coastline. "To support the goal of increasing India's coastal cargo share to 230 million tonnes by 2030, we need a legal framework that minimises regulations and maximises facilitation," he said.

Sonowal said presently, regulation and licensing of coastal shipping was governed under the Merchant Shipping Act, 1958. "This bill provides a holistic, forward looking and progressive framework suited to today's commercial realities in line with globally prevalent practices," the minister said.

Earlier, when the Rajya Sabha convened in the morning, the House was adjourned till 2 pm after Opposition parties protested the rejection of 25 adjournment notices under Rule 267 seeking a discussion on SIR.

Deputy Chairman Harivansh, while rejecting the notices, said none of them met the criteria laid out under the rule. As disruptions continued, Harivansh urged MPs to allow the House to function, stating that Zero Hour remained available for raising important issues.

20K INDIANS RECRUITED AND SENT TO ISRAEL

The government on Thursday told the Rajya Sabha that around 20174 Indian nationals have been recruited and sent to Israel since the hostilities began in the region - 6,774 under the bilateral framework agreement with Israel, and around 13,400 more through private channels.

Uproar over fossil fuel lobbyists in delegations

TNIE in Switzerland

S V KRISHNA CHAITANYA

@ GENEVA

AT least 19 fossil fuel and chemical industry lobbyists have secured places in national delegations at the final round of global plastics treaty negotiations in Geneva, triggering outrage from civil society groups and raising serious concerns over the integrity of the talks.

The revelation is part of a broader analysis by the Center for International Environmental Law (CIEL), which identified a total of 234 fossil fuel and chemical lobbyists registered to participate in the fifth and final scheduled session of the Intergovernmental Negotiating Committee (INC-5.2). This is the highest industry presence recorded in the treaty process to date — and more than the entire delegation of the European Union and its 27 member states combined (233).

The 19 lobbyists have been formally included in the delegations of Egypt (6), Kazakhstan (4), China (3), Iran (3), Chile (2), and the Dominican Republic (1). Their inclusion gives them access to closed-door discussions and potentially even a voice in defining national positions on the treaty —a situation civil society groups say amounts to a direct conflict of interest.

"The industry is not just observing — it is actively shaping the outcome," said Rachel Radvany, CIEL's Environmental Health Campaigner. "We've seen them speak in plenary, push their agenda publicly, and align with petrostate interests to weaken ambition."

The Plastics Treaty is intended to address plastic pollution across its full life cycle — from production to disposal — and many countries, scientists, and communities are pushing for binding caps on production and use of toxic additives. But with lobbyists embedded inside negotiating delegations, critics argue the process is at risk of being co-opted from within.

When this reporter asked whether it should not be the responsibility of the United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP) to prevent industry representatives from entering national delegations, David Azoulay, Director of Environmental Health at CIEL, responded by pointing out a critical gap in global environmental governance.

"The INCs are following rules established for earlier agreements, where it's up to Member States to define the makeup of their delegations. But UNEP could still play a more proactive role. They could encourage greater transparency and better conflict of interest policies — even if they can't directly control who gets in."

Azoulay contrasted UNEP's approach with that of other UN bodies that have adopted firm safeguards. "UNDP and WHO both have clear conflict of interest policies. UNEP does not. The WHO's Framework Convention on Tobacco Control even bars tobacco industry representatives from participating in treaty implementation or attending decision-making meetings. It shows that if the political will exists, it is absolutely possible to prevent undue influence."

Meanwhile, civil society organisations face barriers not just in influence, but in physical access. "UNEP has drastically reduced the number of contact group seats from over 200 to just 60," Bjorn Beeler, Executive Director of the International Pollutants Elimination Network (IPEN) told this newspaper.

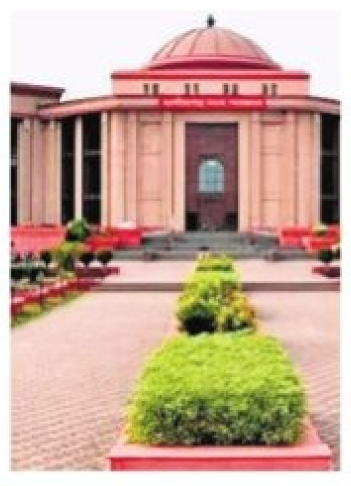
HC asks govt to reply on migrant return to Bengal

EJAZ KAISER @Raipur

THE Chhattisgarh HC on Thursday issued notice to the state government on a plea of 12 migrant workers from West Bengal seeking quashing of "illegal" criminal proceedings against them, and compensation for illegal detention and confinement in jail by accusing them of being Bangladeshi immigrants.

Mehmoob Sheikh and 11 others, residents of Krishna Nagar and Murshidabad in West Bengal, in the petitions also alleged they were ill-treated in custody, threatened by the police in Kondagaon and forced to leave Chhattisgarh, following which they lost their livelihood and returned to their home state.



The petitioners were released from jail after the West Bengal police submitted a report confirming their Indian citizenship.

A Division Bench comprising Chief Justice Ramesh Sinha and Justice B D Guru, hearing the plea, had directed the state to respond within two weeks, following which the petitioners have been asked to give a counter reply. The 12 workers were taken into custody on July 12, allegedly mercilessly treated by Kondagaon police without any cognizable offence and subsequently sent to Central jail in Jagdalpur, the petitioners stated. Advocates Sudeep Srivastava and Rajni Soren filed a habeas corpus plea in the high court, but before it came for a hearing, all 12 were released on July 14 by the order of SDM Kondagaon.

"All 12 were kept in jail for 2 days, but neither produced before any magistrate or court of law nor served any detention order. They had come to work at a construction site in Kondagaon through a contractor to build a school," stated the petition. The petitioners claimed that they were working at the school construction site from June 30, residing in the same premises with proper verification and didn't hide their identity. They had produced their Aadhar cards and other documents on demand to the Kondagaon police.

Revision of rolls, Bangla on top of Didi's poll plank

KAUSHIK PRADHAN @Kolkata

TRINAMOOL Congress Chairperson and Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee on Thursday indicated that her party would primarily bank on the controversies raised over the SIR and Bangla to campaign for the 2026 Assembly election.

Celebrating 'World Tribal Day' at an event in Jhargram in western West Bengal, she said, "If anyone asks you to fill up forms, please do not do so without awareness. They will remove your names from the voter lists and hand an NRC notice to you. We will not tolerate it. It is a plan of the Centre, and they will verify the names on the voter list. People will have to cross-check if their names are in the voter list. Those born before 2002 are being asked to show their parents' birth certificates."

Banerjee claimed that when the Trinamool Congress Government came to power in West Bengal in May 2011, the institutional delivery rate in the state was only 60 per cent and it was much lower before that.

"How many people have the birth certificates of their parents now? Those who are asking for it – do they have their parents' birth certificates? They are born with a silver spoon; how will they understand the woes of the poor?" She added. Without naming the BJP, Banerjee also attacked the ruling party at the Centre, saying, "They even dismissed the existence of Bangla. In which language did Rabindranath Tagore or Netaji speak? How useless are they that they say there is no such language as Bangla."

The Chief Minister complained, "Government employees are being intimidated. Notices were sent to two of my officers yesterday. They were suspended even though the elections have not yet been declared. Under which rule? You are suspending. And you are saying, an FIR will have to be filed. It will not happen. I will not let anyone be punished."

Himanta calls for restraint amid anti-Bengali stir

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @Guwahati

EVEN as a campaign against Bangla-speaking Muslims in parts of upper Assam intensifies, Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma appealed to people not to take the law into their own hands. Sarma said places like Lakhimpur, Jorhat, and Sivasagar are the "borghar" (heartland) of the Assamese. "If somebody enters our borghar and nobody speaks up, who will rescue the 'jati' (race)?" he asked.

He called for raising a voice against it and agitating, but within the law. "The situation will deteriorate if somebody attempts to wipe out the Assamese. When somebody enters our borghar, it is natural that people will speak up against it," he said. The Bangla-speaking Muslims are concentrated in southern, western, central and northern Assam.

Sarma said if people had encroached upon government land after being affected by riverbank erosion, they would have grabbed a small plot of land. He mentioned that people grabbed lands measuring up to 200 to 300 bighas in some places. The movement to drive out Bangla-speaking Muslims in upper Assam followed eviction drives in Dhubri, Goalpara, Lakhimpur and Golaghat.

Sarma recently called upon the people not to shelter the evictees, as otherwise the situation that had improved post-eviction would become "bad again". There have been at least three incidents of confrontation in Sivasagar district when members of some non-Muslim indigenous groups and organisations raided the houses of Assamese Muslims in search of Bangla-speaking Muslim workers. The All Assam Students' Union (AASU) backed the eviction drives by the state government. Stating that the exercise should continue to clear encroachment of government and satra (neo-Vaishnavite monastery) lands, AASU president Utpal Sarma, however, noted that the landless deserved land as per existing norms.

Sahani cooking up something again?

VIP chief and former minister Mukesh Sahani is known to be a hard bargainer when it comes to the allocation of seats in an election. During the 2020 Bihar assembly election, he had walked out of a press conference organised to announce the seats among allies of the grand alliance. He later contested the election as an NDA ally, but returned to the alliance after his relations with the BJP soured. Now, he is demanding 60 seats in the coming election and the post of deputy chief minister. LoP Tejashwi Yadav has not responded to his demand so far, but surprisingly, Sahani is maintaining stoic silence these days. What's cooking?

EC goes in for better voter amenities in Bihar

Bihar has created a history of sorts so far as elections are concerned. It has become the first state in India to take the initiative to improve voter convenience and reduce long queues of electors at polling stations. In the coming assembly elections, the Election Commission has decided to restrict the number of electors at each polling station to 1,200. To achieve this, the Commission has increased the number of polling stations in the state from 77,895 to 90,712. The number of Booth Level officers (BLOs) have also been increased for the convenience of electors.

50K applications for electricity after sop

Chief Minister Nitish Kumar's announcement to provide 125 units of free electricity to domestic users has caused much inconvenience to the power authority. The offices of both South and North Bihar power distribution companies are flooded with applications for new connections. Over 50,000 applications for new connections have been received in the last 20 days alone. Patna topped the list with 1,528 applications, which is nearly a 50 per cent increase compared to the average of 800-1,000 applications per month. The power company has made the rules for new connections stricter for apparent reasons.

Cops raid bookshops in Kashmir after ban on 25 books, including Noorani's

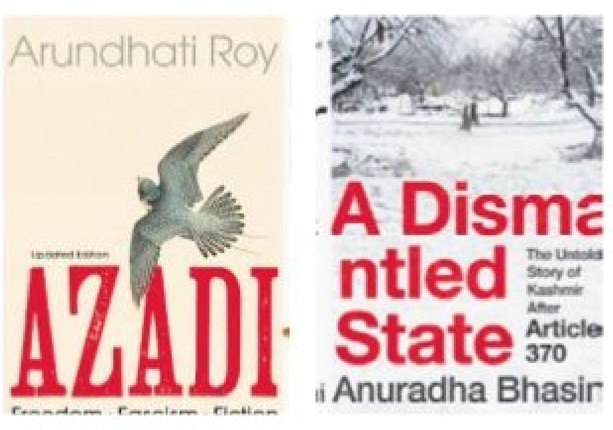
FAYAZ WANI @Srinagar

A day after the Jammu and Kashmir home department banned 25 books for "promoting false narratives and secessionism", police conducted raids on shops in the Valley on Thursday to identify and seize the banned publications.

"The objective of the operation was to identify, seize, and forfeit any literature that propagates or systematically disseminates false narratives, promotes secessionist ideologies, or otherwise poses a threat to the sovereignty and unity of India," a police spokesperson said, adding the raids were conducted under the provisions of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita (BNS). "Searches were conducted in a peaceful manner, and due legal process was followed," he said.

The raids were conducted in Srinagar, Kulgam and some other parts of the Valley. "Further action, if warranted, will be taken under law, as per the findings of the ongoing investigation," the spokesperson said. "All bookshop owners were warned against stocking or distributing prohibited content. They were also sensitised about the legal consequences of violating these directives and instructed to follow the guidelines," he said.

Police have advised people to stay away from "proscribed material" and report any suspicious activity, including the circulation of banned literature, to the nearest police station. Reacting to the ban on 25 books, authors and scholars said the order is "regrettable" and an attempt "to warn Kashmiris against free speech."



Arundhati, Bhasin works also under the scanner

The banned works include late legal luminary and political commentator AG Noorani's 'The Kashmir Dispute 1947-2012', author and activist Arundhati Roy's 'Azadi', political scientist Sumantra Bose's 'Kashmir at the Crossroads and journalist Anuradha Bhasin's 'The Untold Story of Kashmir after Article 370'.

Action against 2 medicos for ragging junior

ANURAAG SINGH @Bhopal

TWO second-year MBBS students of Dr Laxmi Narayan Pandey Government Medical College in Madhya Pradesh's Ratlam have been expelled from the hostel for the course for allegedly ragging a junior.

The duo, identified as Amolik and Ayushman, had reportedly sneaked into the hostel housing first-year students while in an inebriated state on Wednesday night, when there was no security guard around.

Once inside, the two consumed more liquor and harassed their juniors. Before slipping away, they also cut a first-year student's hair and threatened the juniors with dire consequences if they reported the incident. Undeterred by the threats, the hostellers brought the matter to the attention of the warden, Dr Devendra Chauhan, who is also an assistant professor in the Department of Surgery. Taking a serious view of the episode, the anti-ragging panel of the college held a meeting on Thursday morning.

The authorities subsequently debarred one of them from academic activities for one year and the other one for six months. Further, both have been expelled from the hostel for the entire MBBS course.

Rescue gains momentum as Army saves 260 in Dharali

NARENDRA SETHI @Dehradun

NEARLY 260 people were rescued on Thursday as a multi-agency team, led by the Indian Army, intensified evacuation efforts in Uttarkashi's flash flood-battered Dharali.

While official figures list 16 people, nine Army personnel and seven civilians, as missing, ground reports from villagers suggest the actual number could exceed 100. Three civilian fatalities have been confirmed, and over 100 people are feared missing, including nine Army personnel, after an Army post sustained extensive damage. The rescued people were brought to the Matli helipad in Uttarkashi. Approximately 400 people remain stranded in Gangotri, Army helicopters evacuating them to safety.

A Dharali resident said, requesting anonymity, over 100 people died in the disaster. "Our village had around 1,400 residents and 25 homestays were destroyed," the villager said. Initial rescue attempts were hampered by continuous debris flow in Kheer Ganga and widespread damage to the Gangotri Highway. However, Wednesday's improved weather allowed helicopters to take flight, enabling rescue teams to reach the affected sites. Disaster Management Secretary Vinod Kumar Suman said, "274 people have been brought to Harsil from Gangotri and other areas, and all are safe." He said the rescued people include 131 from Gujarat, 123 from Maharashtra, 21 from Madhya Pradesh, all transported to Dehradun.

PRO (Defence) Lt. Col Manish Shrivastava said, "Rescue and relief tasks are being conducted under extremely challenging conditions, actively supported by drones for aerial reconnaissance." Two helipads at Harsil and Nelong are operational for rapid troop induction and evacuation. Chinook and Mi-17 helicopters are on standby, with an ad hoc aviation base established at Matli due to extensive road breaches. Recco radar teams and search dogs are aiding efforts.

'Satellite images will help rescue, restoration work'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

TWO days after the catastrophic floods due to cloudburst and intense rainfall in Dharali and Harsil villages in Uttarkashi district of Uttarakhand, Indian Space Research Organisation's National Remote Sensing Centre (NRSC) shared analysis of the floods based on satellite data.

Using high-resolution images of the Indian Cartosat-2S satellites, the teams drew a comparative analysis of the satellite images taken on August 7 (post the event) and cloud-free satellite images taken before the event on June 13, 2024, showing the extent and severity of the destruction.

"The satellite images will help in the ongoing search and rescue operations to reach those stranded, and restore connectivity to the isolated region," the ISRO report said, and cautioned that increasing events highlight the vulnerability of the Himalayan settlements to disasters.

In a 1st, IIM-Ranchi replaces mid-term exams with 'AI-integrated' projects

MUKESH RANJAN @Ranchi

THE Indian Institute of Management (IIM) Ranchi is all set to replace traditional hall-based mid-term exams with AI-integrated business problem-solving projects in all courses.

The initiative, called Working with AI (WAI), aims to bridge the gap between theoretical learning and practical, technology-driven business challenges, positioning the institute at the forefront of pedagogical innovation. Over the past academic cycle, the institution has systematically revamped its entire course structure, placing real-world business problem-solving at the centre of every curriculum component.

"We have recognised that the traditional model of isolated theoretical learning was becoming increasingly disconnected from the dynamic needs of modern business," said IIM-Ranchi Director Dr Deepak Srivastava, adding, "Our students needed to develop competencies that go beyond textbook knowledge – they need to work collaboratively with emerging technologies to solve complex business challenges."

The WAI initiative reflects a sophisticated understanding of how artificial intelligence is reshaping the business landscape, and IIM Ranchi has integrated it as a fundamental component of business education. Students are now required to demonstrate their ability to work alongside AI systems to develop innovative solutions for real business problems.

This approach addresses a critical gap in traditional management education, where students often graduate with theoretical knowledge but lack practical experience in human-AI collaboration – a skill increasingly essential in today's workplace. The initiative goes beyond simply learning about AI to working with AI as a collaborative partner in problem-solving processes.

Trump tariff: India's basmati loss is Pak's gain

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

Total market of basmati rice in the United States is of approximately 5 lakh metric tonnes (LMT)

India exports about 3 LMT approximately worth $350 million; Pakistan exports about 1.8 LMT

THE FALLOUT OF HIKE

INDIAN EXPORTERS' PRESENT AVERAGE PRICE IS $1,200 PER METRIC TONNE (MT)

WITH THE NEW TARIFF ANOTHER $600 PER MT WILL BE ADDED THUS IT WILL BE $1800

Pakistan enjoys low tariff of 19 per cent; their basmati will cost only $1,450

IN 2023–24 FISCAL YEAR, A TOTAL OF 59.42 LMT OF BASMATI RICE WAS EXPORTED FROM INDIA TO VARIOUS COUNTRIES

THE 50% tariff US President Donald Trump slapped on Indian basmati rice exports could adversely affect Indian basmati rice exports, and Pakistan would be the gainer, increasing its market share in the US.

Currently, $1,200 is the average price per metric tonne. The new tariff would hike it to $1,800. On the other hand, the price in Pakistan, which enjoys a low tariff rate of 19 percent, would come to only $1,450, a difference of $350 per MT. The US Basmati market accounts for approximately 5 lakh metric tonnes (LMT). Of this, about 3 LMT worth $350 million comes from India and the rest from Pakistan.

The development can severely affect Punjab, the highest producer of basmati rice in the country, accounting for 40 per cent of production, followed by Haryana and other states. India exported 59.42 LMT of Basmati in 2023-24 -- 7 LMT to Iran, 11 LMT to Saudi Arabia, 8 LMT to Iraq, 3 LMT to Yemen, and 3 LMT to the US, with the remainder going to others.

According to the Agricultural and Processed Food Products Export Development Authority (APEDA) under the Union Ministry of Commerce and Industry, India's foreign exchange earnings from Basmati exports were ₹48,000 crore in 2022. Punjab's contribution was around 40 percent.

Ranjit Singh Jossan, Vice-President of the Basmati Rice Miller and Exporter Association, said, "The tariff imposed by the US on Indian Basmati rice exports poses a serious challenge to the sector. It will significantly reduce India's price competitiveness. The demand for Indian rice in the US will almost disappear, putting our centuries-old market at risk of vanishing."

Jossan listed the consequences: "India could lose its substantial market share to Pakistan and other exporters of aromatic or speciality rice varieties. Second, the US, which historically accounts for 8 to 10 per cent of India's basmati exports, will witness a sharp decline in imports. Export volumes could fall by 50 per cent to 80 per cent. This decline will hit small and medium exporters and rice millers the hardest, as they are already grappling with reduced margins and unsold inventory."

According to him, the tariff "is a strategic setback for India's agricultural export sector". He suggests that to counter this, India must engage in immediate diplomatic negotiations with the US "to seek tariff relief or preferential access". At the same time, the government should "support exporters through financial incentives, export subsidies, and an aggressive push to diversify markets".

TRUMP AND PUTIN TALKS LOOM AS CLOCK TICKS ON UKRAINE DEADLINE

WASHINGTON

RUSSIAN President Vladimir Putin said on Thursday he hopes to meet next week with US President Donald Trump, possibly in the United Arab Emirates. Putin's announcement came on the eve of a White House deadline for Moscow to show progress toward ending the 3-year-old war in Ukraine or suffer additional economic sanctions. No location had been determined on Thursday morning, according to a White House official who was not authorised to speak publicly and spoke on condition of anonymity.

The United States was still expected to impose additional sanctions Friday on Russia, the official said, adding that a Trump-Putin meeting would not happen if the Russian leader does not agree to meet with Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy. The official did not specify whether the condition was for Zelenskyy to be present at the possible US-Russia summit.

Speaking of possible direct talks with Zelenskyy, Putin said he has mentioned several times that he was not against it, adding: "It's a possibility, but certain conditions need to be created" for it to happen.

The Kremlin has previously said that Putin and Zelenskyy should meet only when an agreement negotiated by their delegations is close.

Ukraine fears being sidelined by direct negotiations between Washington and Moscow, and Zelenskyy said he had phone conversations with several European leaders on Thursday amid a flurry of diplomatic activity.

European countries have pledged to back Ukraine for as long as it takes to defeat Russia's invasion.Putin's foreign affairs adviser, Yuri Ushakov, earlier brushed aside the possibility of Zelenskyy joining the summit, something the White House said Trump was ready to consider.

Putin has spurned Zelenskyy's previous offers of a meeting to clinch a breakthrough. "We propose, first of all, to focus on preparing a bilateral meeting with Trump, and we consider it most important that this meeting be successful and productive," Ushakov said, adding that US special envoy Steve Witkoff's suggestion of a meeting including Ukraine's leader "was not specifically discussed."

Putin made the announcement in the Kremlin about a possible meeting with Trump after meeting with Sheikh Mohammed bin Zayed Al Nahyan, the president of the UAE.

Asked who initiated the possible talks with the American president, Putin said that didn't matter and "both sides expressed an interest."

Kirill Dmitriev, the head of Russia's sovereign wealth fund who met with Witkoff on Wednesday, said a Trump-Putin meeting would allow Moscow to "clearly convey its position," and he hoped a summit would include discussions on mutually beneficial economic issues, including joint investments in areas such as rare earth elements. The meeting would be the first US-Russia summit since 2021, when former President Joe Biden met Putin in Geneva. It would be a significant milestone toward Trump's effort to end the war, although there's no guarantee it would stop the fighting since Moscow and Kyiv remain far apart on their conditions for peace.

Months of the United States-led efforts have yielded no progress on stopping Russia's invasion of its neighbour.

The war has killed tens of thousands of troops on both sides and more than 12,000 Ukrainian civilians, according to the United Nations. AP

Netanyahu plans to seize all of Gaza, later transfer control to Arab forces

TEL AVIV

PRIME Minister Benjamin Netanyahu said Thursday that to destroy Hamas Israel intends to take full control of the Gaza Strip and eventually transfer its administration to friendly Arab forces, as the Security Cabinet discussed a widening of its 22-month offensive.

Asked in an interview with Fox News if Israel would "take control of all of Gaza," Netanyahu replied: "We intend to, in order to assure our security, remove Hamas there, enable the population to be free of Gaza." The Security Cabinet would still need to approve such a decision. 'We don't want to keep it. We want to have a security perimeter," Netanyahu said in the interview. "We want to hand it over to Arab forces that will govern it properly without threatening us and giving Gazans a good life."

An Israeli official had earlier said the Security Cabinet would hold a lengthy debate and approve an expanded military plan to conquer all or parts of Gaza not yet under Israeli control. The official, speaking on condition of anonymity pending a formal decision, said that whatever is approved would be implemented gradually to increase pressure on Hamas.

Palestinians rush to collect humanitarian aid airdropped by parachutes into Gaza City in northern Gaza Strip | AP

In Gaza, where Israel's air and ground war has already killed tens of thousands of people, displaced most of the population, destroyed vast areas and caused severe and widespread hunger, Palestinians braced for further misery. "There is nothing left to occupy," said Maysaa al-Heila, who is living in a displacement camp. "There is no Gaza left." At least 42 Palestinians were killed in Israeli airstrikes and shootings across southern Gaza on Thursday, according to local hospitals.Israel's military offensive has killed over 61,000 Palestinians, according to Gaza's Health Ministry, which does not say how many were fighters or civilians. The ministry is part of the Hamas-run government and staffed by medical professionals who keep and share detailed records.

The United Nations and independent experts view the ministry's figures as the most reliable estimate of casualties. Israel has disputed them without offering a toll of its own.

Of the 42 people killed on Thursday, at least 13 were seeking aid in an Israeli military zone in southern Gaza where U.N. aid convoys are regularly overwhelmed by looters and desperate crowds.

Another two were killed on roads leading to nearby sites run by the Israeli-backed Gaza Humanitarian Foundation, an American contractor, according to Nasser Hospital, which received the bodies. AP

Crude imports from US rise sharply since Jan

Russia remains top supplier with 36% market share in July, followed by Iraq and Saudi Arabia, UAE and Kuwait

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

INDIA'S crude oil imports from the United States increased sharply since January 2025, according to data from Kpler.

In January 2025, when US president Donald Trump took over, India imported 279,000 barrels per day (bpd) of crude oil from the US—a 322% jump from just 66,000 bpd in December 2024, Kpler data shows. The upward trend continued in February, with imports reaching 357,000 bpd, marking the highest level in over two years. In March, imports stood at nearly 300,000 bpd, reflecting a 247% year-on-year increase.

April saw further growth, with US crude imports rising to 326,000 bpd—a 270% increase compared to April 2024—before dipping slightly to 280,000 bpd in May due to refinery maintenance. The most significant rise came in June, when imports soared to 439,000 bpd, driven by concerns over potential supply disruptions in the Middle East, particularly around the Strait of Hormuz.

In July 2025, India imported a total of 4.55 million barrels per day (mbd) of crude oil. Russia remained the top supplier, contributing 1.40 mbd, followed by Iraq at 0.91 mbd and Saudi Arabia at 0.70 mbd. The United Arab Emirates supplied 0.41 mbd, while Kuwait contributed 0.35 mbd. Imports from other countries totaled 0.78 mbd. Crude oil imports from the US increased by 23% compared to June 2025.

Though India's overall crude imports declined slightly in July, Russian oil still accounted for over 36% of the total. The dip was mainly attributed to seasonal refinery maintenance during the monsoon season, rather than geopolitical tensions or Western pressure on Russian crude.

"India's crude imports fell by 0.1 mbd month-on-month to 4.5 mbd in July. This is in line with historical trends, as crude arrivals typically decline from June to August. Refineries usually undergo planned maintenance turnarounds during this period, as domestic demand softens amid the monsoon season," said Ivan Mathews, head of APAC analysis at Vortexa.

Lately, tensions have intensified following a statement from the US President Donald Trump announced to impose a 50% reciprocal tariff on Indian goods due to India's continued imports of Russian crude. The European Union has also renewed efforts to curb Russia's energy revenues, announcing additional sanctions, including targeting India-based Nayara Energy, a subsidiary of Russia's Rosneft. Western nations have been increasing pressure on India to reduce its dependence on Russian crude or face punitive trade measures.

India, Russia explore alliance in key minerals

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIA and Russia are exploring cooperation in extraction of rare earth elements and critical minerals, underground coal gasification, and development of modern industrial infrastructure.

As per an official report, these topics were discussed during recent meeting of the India-Russia Working Group on Modernisation and Industrial Cooperation. Critical minerals such as copper, lithium, nickel, cobalt, and rare earth elements are essential raw materials that support growth of clean energy technologies. Their applications span across wind turbines, electricity grids, electric vehicles, and battery manufacturing.

The Ministry of Commerce and Industry stated key focus areas included collaboration in aerospace science and technology— establishment of a modern wind tunnel facility, production of small aircraft piston engines, among others.

Domestic market recovers from high US tariff shock

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

DOMESTIC equity markets staged a sharp rebound on Thursday after opening with significant losses. The weekly expiry day started on a weak note, with the benchmark indices- BSE Sensex and NSE Nifty - witnessing a steep gap-down opening.

The downturn was driven by geopolitical tensions after U.S. President Donald Trump signed an executive order levying an additional 25% tariff on Indian goods, raising total US tariffs on India to 50%.

Sensex, which fell more than 700 points to hit an intraday low of 79,824.61, closed the session at 80,623.26, while the Nifty rebounded from a fall of 220.80 points to settle above the 24,500 level. The broader midcap index edged up by 0.3%, while the smallcap index closed on a muted note.

The sharp improvement in investors' sentiment came on hopes of improving geopolitical tension and further talks of trade negotiations between India and the United States. "Domestic equities recovered sharply from the intraday lows amid a volatile weekly expiry day.

Although the earlier trade was weighed down by broad-based selling following steep US tariff hikes on India, sentiment improved toward the close as reports of potential peace talks involving Trump, Putin, and Zelensky which raised hopes of a softer US stance on trade," said Vinod Nair, head of research, Geojit Investments Limited.

He added, "This renewed optimism triggered a strong rebound in the auto, pharma, metals, and energy sectors and aided the market in recalling its trajectory and concluding in the green," added Nair.

Renewed optimism triggered a strong rebound in the auto, pharma, metals, and energy sectors and aided the market in recalling its trajectory and concluding in the green

Vinod Nair, research head, Geojit Investments

All sectoral indices recovered from the day's low, with IT, media, and pharma pockets leading the recovery, posting gains in the range of 0.5–1%. Top Nifty gainers on Thursday were Hero MotoCorp, Tech Mahindra, Wipro, Eternal, JSW Steel, while major laggards were Adani Enterprises, Adani Ports, Trent, Tata Motors and Grasim Industries.

Pranay Aggarwal, Director and chief executive officer of Stoxkart said that Trump's announcement of an additional 25% tariff on Indian goods may trigger short-term market volatility, especially in export-oriented sectors like engineering goods, textiles, and jewellery.

"Investors should avoid heavily US-dependent stocks and shift focus to domestically driven sectors such as banks, FMCG, infra, and utilities. Investors should invest in quality stocks," added Aggarwal.

India needs 10 EPCs of L&T's size: Parth Jindal

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

INDIA'S infrastructure growth ambitions could be held back by a limited pool of large-scale engineering, procurement and construction (EPC) contractors and outdated construction methods, warns Parth Jindal, MD, JSW Cement.

In a recent interaction, Jindal said while the Indian economy has potential to grow faster than 7%, one of the major stumbling blocks is lack of sufficient high-quality EPC players. "Whenever we try to build a factory, my team always comes back and says, there's only L&T," Jindal said, stressing the urgent need for at least 10 to 20 L&T-like firms to support India's infrastructure and industrial ambitions. Jindal said while companies like Tata Projects, KEC International, and J Kumar Infra are stepping up, the broader industry still relies on manual labour. "We are pouring cement and bending TMT bars manually," he noted. "Today, it takes longer in India to build a road or a building compared to China," he said. "It is improving, but it can be much faster."

Jindal blamed lack of large EPCs to sales realisation in the sector. He said sales realisations in cement have declined for past two years. The 10-year CAGR in cement prices is less than 1%, which he says, is a serious concern.

Meanwhile, JSW Cement IPO fetched 29% subscription on the first day of share sale on Thursday.

Tariff risks to weigh on crude supply, warns RIL

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

RELIANCE Industries, which runs the world's largest single-location oil refinery with a 60 million tonne of refining capacity, on Thursday, warned that the continuing geopolitical and tariff-related uncertainties could disrupt trade flows and the demand-supply balance in its oil-to-chemicals business.

The company, in FY25 annual report on Thursday, said though it expects crude prices to remain volatile amid evolving sanctions, changing tariff regimes and output decisions by oil cartel Opec and non-Opec members, oil demand is likely to maintain growth despite growing electric vehicle adoption as the economy is on a strong footing.

In its 2025 oil outlook, the company, which closed the year with highest-ever revenue and net income-- ₹10.71 lakh crore and ₹81,309 crore, respectively, in FY25, said the ramp-up of new refineries may lead to weaker product cracks. "But expected closures can create upside potential for refining margins. Domestic fuel demand is likely to remain healthy with increasing economic activity, while domestic demand for downstream chemical products is expected to grow ahead of GDP growth rate, driven by demand from infrastructure, packaging, automobiles and agriculture," RIL said.

The company said it remains on track to become net carbon zero by 2035 and is progressing rapidly to set up a 30 gwh modular battery gigafactory for cells, packs, containerised BESS (battery energy storage systems), and backward integration into battery materials.

In his address to shareholders, company chairman Mukesh Ambani said RIL sees the "breakneck speed with which the world is changing, reshaped by digital disruption, global shifts, and technological breakthroughs, not as a challenge but as an opportunity. We are reimagining our future and reshaping our businesses to become a new-age deep-tech enterprise."

Days after big layoff, TCS announces salary hikes for about 80% employees

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE country's largest IT services company Tata Consultancy Services (TCS) has announced salary hikes for nearly 80% of its staff members. The news of salary hike comes about 10 days after TCS said that it will lay off more than 12,000 employees in the course of this year.

The fresh increment will mainly cover the IT giant's junior and mid-level employees. In an email written to staff on Wednesday, TCS CHRO Milind Lakkad and CHRO Designate K Sudeep stated that the salary adjustments would take effect from September 1.

"We are pleased to announce a compensation revision for eligible associates in grades up to C3A and equivalent, covering 80% of our workforce. This will be effective September 1, 2025," as per the email reviewed by TNIE. It further stated: "We would like to thank each one of you for your dedication and hard work, as we build the future of TCS together."

The details regarding the quantum of salary increases remain undisclosed. Reports suggest onshore TCS employees will receive an increment of 2-4% while offshore staff will receive a hike of 6-8%. TCS on July 27 had communicated it is planning to cut its workforce by 2% in fiscal year 2026 (April 2025 to March 2026), mainly affecting middle and senior management. While tech giants such as Microsoft and IBM have fired 15,000 and 8,000 employees, respectively, this year alone, this was the first time in recent years that an Indian IT services company has announced such a big job cut.

TCS added 6,071 employees in the June quarter, taking its total headcount to 6,13,069. The company's attrition rate neared a two-year high at 13.8% in the June quarter of this fiscal, compared to 13.3% in the preceding fourth quarter of FY25.

PSU banks' headcount falls 10% in FY21-25; State Bank staff count shrinks by 10k

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

INCREASING technology adoption, coupled with slower-than-needed recruitments to replace retiring staffers as part of cost-cutting given margin compression banks have been experiencing since the pandemic, has seen eight of 12 public sector banks having lower number of headcounts at the close of fiscal 2025 than they had on their payrolls in the year to March 2021.

While these 12 banks led by SBI had employed 8,31,630 on rolls as of March 2021, the number has fallen to 7,58,172, a fall of 73,458 in this five-year period, as per the annual reports of these banks, which didn't specify whether all of this is due to retirement or there are other reasons like annual attrition.

While the decline in percentage terms is the steepest at the Chennai-based Indian Overseas Bank which saw staff strength plunging by 11% to 20,966 in FY25 from 23,579 in FY21, in absolute numbers.SBI, which saw headcount declining by 10,132 in the five-year period from 2,46,353 to 2,36,221. On the other hand, only four of them added employees during this period. While third-largest public sector lender Punjab National Bank has seen a marginal rise from 1,01,802 to 1,02,746 during this period, so did mid-sized Bank of Maharashtra, which added 2,059 more to its payrolls.

Similarly, fourth-largest Central Bank of India saw a marginal rise in headcount from 32,340 in FY21 to 33,081 as of March 2025 and so did another mid-sized lender Punjab & Sindh Bank from 8,890 to 10,229 during this period.

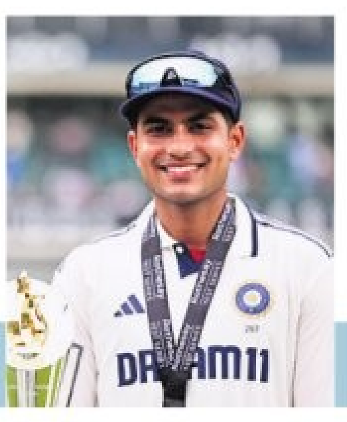
Gill to lead North Zone in Duleep Trophy



India Test skipper Shubman Gill was on Thursday named captain of the North Zone squad for the upcoming Duleep Trophy, beginning August 28, less than three weeks after he led a young side to a thrilling 2-2 draw against England in a gruelling five-Test series.

Hall of shame as 260 players fail dope tests in 2024

This could be the highest number in the history of Indian doping; samples too have increased to 7466. This was revealed by the sports ministry in Rajya Sabha

INDRANEEL DAS @ Chennai

EVEN as the Anti-Doping Bill has been submitted in the Parliament, India are up for another big doping embarrassment yet again. The country that had been topping the world charts, has now seen a huge spike in positive cases. The number in 2024 stands at 260. This could be the highest number of positive doping cases in the country. This was revealed during a question hour session (Unstarred question No - 2231) in the Rajya Sabha. India's testing agency is National Anti-Doping Agency (NADA).

This after the International Olympic Committee (IOC) had pointed out to India of its high number of doping positive cases and its subsequent impact on its Olympic 2036 bid. India have been topping the charts in the World Anti-Doping Agency figures both testing as well as Anti-Doping Rule Violation (ADRV). India are already among the top nations when it comes to doping by junior athletes as well. However, the latest figure released by the ministry during the question hour could be the highest. Before this, the highest number stood at 225 in 2019.

Rajya Sabha MP Imran Pratapgarhi asked the sports minister "whether Government is aware of the rising number of anti-doping rule violations involving Indian athletes in recent years; (b) number of athletes who tested positive for banned substances in the years 2021 to 2024, year-wise and sport-wise..."

In reply, the sports minister said that the government is aware of "instances of anti-doping rule violations involving Indian athletes in recent years and is fully committed to curb the menace of doping in sports."

The sports ministry's reply states that in 2024, there have been 260 positive cases, a sizeable jump from 213 in 2023. The samples tested in 2024 stood at 7466 and even this could be among the highest.

Among the sports, once again athletics topped the list with 76 positive cases in 2024. This will be another headache for the Athletics Federation of India that has seen some top athletes testing positive in recent times both at home and abroad. One must take into consideration that athletics is one event that generates a high number of participants in events. Close behind is weightlifting with 43 positive cases in 2024, a considerable jump from 38 in 2023. Wrestling is another sport that has seen a very high number of positive cases — 29 in 2024.

Boxing is another sport that is witnessing a rise in positive cases. The sport had 17 positive cases in 2024, almost double the figure of 2023 that stood at 9. This must be an area of grave concern for the sport that had not seen cases in double figures until 2024.

This comes weeks after the World Anti Doping Agency (WADA) published both their dope Testing Report (2023) and Anti-Doping Rule Violation statistics for the year 2021.

The WADA 2023 Anti-Doping Testing Figures indicates that India had the maximum number of positive cases in terms of numbers and percentage. According to the report, the National Dope Testing Laboratory (NDTL) had tested 5412 urine samples out of which 212 returned positive while 477 blood samples had two adverse analytical findings (which is the number of positive tests before final adjudication — Anti-Doping Rule Violation).

Going by the outcome of the testing agency report, there were 120 ADRVs after 125 failed dope tests (Adverse Analytical Finding) in 2022. According to the WADA executive report, Russia topped with 164 ADRVs while Italy followed India with 104.

US' Awonder Liang (R) in action against India's Arjun Erigaisi | MARTIN LOUIS

Finance pro by day, adept GM by night

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@ Chennai

ACROSS Monday and Tuesday, a lot of chess players spoke to the media as part of their obligations ahead of the Chennai Grand Masters. Most of these interviews were rather serious. It's how interviews with chess players tend to go, especially with an important closed Classical tournament on the horizon.

Vincent Keymer spoke about wanting to visit the swimming pool Magnus Carlsen dived into after winning the World Championship for the first time in the city in 2013. "This hotel has a lot of (chess) heritage," he quipped. This tournament, for D Harika, has a lot of meaning. "It's the first time my daughter is ever travelling with me for an event." For Arjun Erigaisi, it's to get back in shape just before the Grand Swiss and the World Cup.

US' Awonder Liang, though, comes as a breath of fresh air. "I'm just happy to be here," he says, a big, goofy grin as wide as an airport hangar on his face. Usually, he doesn't play in tournaments like these. The 22-year-old, whose main gig is in finance, says chess is a side hustle. "I think it's been over a year since I played an event of this magnitude," he says. "I play in a lot of local tournaments, maybe win a couple of $1000 or $100... when I played for my university, not even that. I make more money streaming than playing chess and I never stream. I do not make money playing chess. I just play for fun."

So why is he here? His wit again shines out. "A few of my friends had noticed that Arjun (Erigaisi) had lost a few ratings points. He was back from 2800 to 2700-odd. So I thought maybe I can go and donate my four points to him (laughs)."

Liang wasn't always like this. In fact, just a decade ago, he was very serious about his chess career. An age-group world champion who owned a lot of records — he still does — he used to obsess over the board game like all his peers. Then, something snapped. "Just pressure."

His rating is very good — 2696 — and it kind of partly explains why he wanted a taste of elite chess. "Yeah, I was surprised as well (with the decision to come here)," he says.

The other thing that makes the Chicago resident unique from the chess world is prep before games. "Probably I do something like five minutes (laughs)," he says. It's common for players to read and revise all the mainlines. Awonder? "Maybe I will read a couple of lines for a few minutes." As luck would have it, on Thursday, Round 1 of the Chennai Grand Masters, Awonder was paired to face Erigaisi. And the Math and Economics graduate showed why he's rated that highly, at least initially.

Playing Black against the top-seed, Awonder's pieces had structural integrity out of the opening. For a long time, he was pretty much neck and neck. But Erigaisi, a year younger than his opponent, started making serious inroads in the middle game.

IOA'S AC MEET FOCUSSES ON ANTI-DOPING

INDRANEEL DAS @ Chennai

CONVENING meetings every month, putting together plans for sporting activities that would lead to sports development, safeguarding athletes and their rights, addressing rising doping menace in the country and helping athletes during transition after retirement were some of the focus areas of the Indian Olympic Association's Athletes Commission meeting on Thursday. If everything goes to plan, the commission will have their own space at the Olympic Bhawan in New Delhi.

The commission finally had a meeting after quite some time. Out of the 10, there were seven members — four in person and three online — who attended the meeting. The Commission's vice chairperson A Sharath Kamal, Om Prakash Karhana, Bhavani Devi and Shiva Keshavan were at the IOA headquarters in New Delhi. Joining them online were rower Bajrang Lal, hockey player Rani Rampal and star shuttler PV Sindhu.

Athletes Commission members who attended the meet on Thursday

Continuity of discussions seemed to be one all members were keen to focus on. "We would want to conduct such meetings more regularly," said Sharath. "As of now, we will conduct every 30 days." The meeting was crucial in IOA's normalisation process.

The commission focussed on the rising menace of doping. "We have to address the issue and all the commission members have spoken about this at length and if need be, we can collaborate with the National Anti-Doping Agency to spread awareness," said IOA CEO Raghuram Iyer, who was instrumental in hosting the meeting. He said that the IOA would want to make the organisation athletes driven and athletes focussed and this is the first step towards that goal. As far as doping in India is concerned, all members in the panel agreed that something needs to be done earnestly. Country's top athletes felt there is an urgent need for education of not just athletes but also coaches.

In a significant development, the IOA is planning to give the commission space in the IOA Bhawan to operate from. "They should feel welcome to the IOA and they should have a dedicated space," is what Iyer felt.

Sharath said the meeting touched upon two other important topics -- safeguarding athletes rights and well-being and helping them during career transition. He said that this would take some time but the commission would help in the development of an athlete's career pathway that would provide opportunities in coaching, administration, and other fields beyond sports. Winter Olympian Shiva Keshavan said it was quite an interesting meeting. He felt that such an initiative will give athletes more voice. He felt the IOA can also have athletes' point of view with some many events and mega events the country is planning to host.

The commission, as reported by this daily, would also ensure robust athlete representation in the governance structure of all National Sports Federations (NSFs). They would request the NSFs to provide them with details of their Athletes Commission.

AS India aspire to host the Commonwealth Games in 2030, a team of officials from its governing body, led by its Director (Games) Darren Hall, held a meeting with Gujarat Minister of State for Sports Harsh Sanghavi on Thursday during its three-day visit to the state.

The team from Commonwealth Sport was in Ahmedabad for three days from Tuesday to inspect the venues in the city and meet Gujarat government officials as India has submitted an expression of interest (EoI) to host the quadrennial international multi-sport event in 2030. Three days ago, the team from Commonwealth Sport (earlier known as Commonwealth Games Federation) landed in Ahmedabad — the proposed host city if India gets the hosting rights.

Prahlad shines; Indian women exit

ENS @ Chennai

RISING star Prahlad Sriram kept Indian hopes alive in the U-18 boys' segment by progressing to Round 3 (main round) with a standout show on Day 4 of the ASF Asian Surfing Championships. Asia's premier surfing contest had some notable performances in the Repechage rounds and Main Round 3, there were some heartbreaks too. With high stakes and limited second chances, the waves off Mahabalipuram's coast witnessed some determined performances. While India's women surfers Shrishti Selvam and Kamali Moorthy advanced to the main Round 3, their journey came to an end in the face of seasoned international competition. However, Prahlad's show was the saving gace for the hosts. In the open men's repechage Round 2, the stakes were high. Surfers pushed the limits, determined to earn a second chance at championship contention.

AIFF plans to conduct Super Cup before ISL

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

AS the footballers suffer because of the uncertainty over not just football in the upcoming season but also about their salaries and wages in different professional clubs, the All India Footballs Federation (AIFF) had a meeting with Indian Super League (ISL) clubs in New Delhi on Thursday. This also comes days after three ISL clubs decided to stop paying their players.

Though Thursday's crucial meeting between the AIFF and ISL club representatives showed promise that a solution can be figured out soon, it needs to be seen how long it takes for all the stakeholders to find a common ground. The AIFF, on the day, made a proposal to conduct the Super Cup from some time in September and it hopes that the new season of the ISL can kick-start after that.

However, there is no clarity on the Super Cup dates and the AIFF said a follow-up meeting is expected to be held in a week or so to ascertain the same.

The AIFF, the governing body of the sport in the country, made the said proposal during a meeting which involved representatives from all the 13 clubs in the league. The AIFF's thought-process behind organising the Super Cup is so that the clubs can get enough preparations before embarking on the new season. The clubs had also sought for build-up time before entering fresh challenge.

"AIFF proposes that the Super Cup to start from second or third week of September to ensure the ISL clubs get enough competitive matches. Then the ISL can follow. This will allow all clubs to end the 2025-26 season by May 31, 2026, preserving India's AFC competition eligibility," Kalyan Chaubey, AIFF president, said during a press conference.

If one of the key officials from the AIFF who was part of the meeting is to be believed, most of the clubs who were part of the discussion were mostly okay with the proceedings. The official added that the core issue, the Master Rights Agreement between the FSDL (Football Sports Development Limited) and the AIFF, could not be discussed as the matter is still pending in court.

"There was a sigh of relief. Most of the club representatives seemed okay with the proposals. Football has to move forward," the official said.

However, it is learnt that a few clubs sought more clarity on the ISL start date. "I don't think we have had time to actually sit down and digest all the information. You will have to give us a little bit of time because you can't just press a button and then things fall into place," Ravi Puskur, FC Goa CEO said.

This meeting was the need of the hour as most of the clubs and its players/support staff and employees have been bearing the brunt because of the ongoing issue. Some of the clubs have been taking drastic measures due to this period of uncertainty. Over the last week or so, Bengaluru FC and Odisha FC suspended the salaries of players and staff. Chennaiyin FC, just a day before Thursday's meeting, had become the latest club to take a drastic step. The former champions had temporarily paused club operations.

SET in the backdrop of two active volcanic mountains — Sinabung and Sibayak — and scenic tea plantations near Lake Toba, about 66 drivers will light up the Sumatera Utara International Rally from August 8-10 in Indonesia. As many as 15 drivers will fight it out in the third round of the FIA Asia-Pacific Rally Championship's (APRC) Asia Cup section which is a 12-stage, 200.6-km battle across jungle tracks and volcanic gravel.

Three-time ARPC champion Gaurav Gill starts as a favourite while the combo of Team JK Tyre and Vamcy Merla Motorsports unleashes a formidable five-car challenge at the event. The Arjuna Awardee has teamed up with his French co-driver Florian Barral (co-driver) as they will look to harness the power of a Skoda Fabia Rally2 Evo in the premier category.

"Nothing makes me happier than seeing so many cars from India and a strong grid of 15 cars, which augurs well for APRC," Vicky Chandhok, president of the APRC Working Group, said. Apart from the seven-time Indian National Rally champion Gill and Barral, Vaibhav Marathe is teaming up with experienced co-driver Ashwin Naik. Meanwhile, M Bopaiah and PV Srinivasa Murthy, the Kodagu-Bengaluru pair, and Abin Rai of Kodagu and veteran Srikanth Gowda of Chikkamagaluru and Nikeetaa Takkale, who has Sudheendra BG as navigator, will also be representing VM Motorsports.

Global smartphone revenues cross $100 bn in second quarter of this yr

RAKESH KUMAR @New Delhi

GLOBAL smartphone revenues grew by 10% year-on-year (YoY) in Q2 2025, crossing the $100-billion mark for the first time ever in a second calendar quarter, according to the latest report by Counterpoint Research. In contrast, global smartphone shipments increased by just 3% YoY during the same period. The global average selling price (ASP) also reached a new second-quarter high, rising 7% YoY to nearly $350.

"Apple strengthened its lead in revenues driven by strong performance of the 16 series across geographies, benefitting from the broader premiumization trend. Shipments in the US were front-loaded in the quarter due to tariff uncertainties. Meanwhile, the iPhone 16e drove sales in Japan, making it one of the fastest growing regions for Apple. Emerging markets like Middle East Africa, and India continue to show strong growth," Jeff Fieldhack, research director at Counterpoint.

Revenue share: Apple dominates

Apple remained the top revenue-generating brand, capturing over 40% of global smartphone revenue in every quarter and hitting 43% in Q2 2025. Samsung held the second position, with a revenue share of 15%–19%. Brands like Xiaomi, Oppo, and Vivo held smaller shares, reflecting their focus on budget and mid-range devices. This highlights how Apple's premium strategy allows it to earn a much larger portion of industry revenue despite selling fewer units than Samsung.

ASP trends: Consumers spending more

Apple continued to have the highest ASP, increasing from $858 to $879 during the quarter. Samsung's ASP stayed above $300, supported by a mix of premium and mid-range models. In contrast, Xiaomi, Oppo, and Vivo had much lower ASPs, ranging between $152 and $274. The overall global ASP reached $347, showing that consumers globally are spending more on smartphones.

Shipment share: Samsung ships more, Apple earns more

Samsung led in terms of units shipped, with a market share between 17% and 20%. Apple followed with a 15% to 16% shipment share. Xiaomi, Oppo, and Vivo made up the rest of the market. Oppo saw the fastest shipment growth, while the others remained relatively stable. This contrast between unit sales and revenue share underlines the strength of Apple's high-margin business model—Samsung sells the most phones, but Apple makes more money.
